WASHINGTON LETTER.

[From our Regular Correspondent.]

WASHINGTON, Dec.. 29, 8190.

Nothing has been gained by the attempt made to hold Congress together during the Christmas holidays, it simply cannot be done, and this attempt has been like its long line of unsuccessful predecessors, The House, which adjourned from last Tuesday to Friday, had less than half a quorum on the last named day, and was compelled to adjourn until to-morrow, three days being as long as either House or Senate can adjourn without the adoption of a joint resolution providing for a recess. The Senate isn't any better off; it adjourned from Christmas eve to Saturday, on which day less than twenty Senators—to be exact, just eighteen—were in attendance. It then adjourned until to-day, and is still without a quorum, but the impression is that it will go ahead with the debate on the election bill, quorum or no quorum, putting off until next week, when it is hoped that nearly all of the Senators will have returned, the calling up of the cloture resolution offered by Senator Aldrich.

It is thought that the House, if it can get a quorum—an important if—will devote a considerable portion of this week to a debate of the shipping bill, To-day there is nothing like a quorum Representatives in this city, and the prediction is being freely made that the House will adjourn for three days more immediately after it is called to order to-morrow. From this it may be seen that so far as any practical results are concerned, Congress might as well have taken the usual two weeks Christmas recess.

Secretary Noble and Commissioner Raum have both endorsed the bill, which has been favorably reported, to reduce the attorney's fee for obtaining an increase of pension to $2.00, and it now looks as though the bill would become a law, in spite of the determined opposition of the pension attorneys.

U. S. Treasurer Huston has at the urgent request of the President, withdrawn his resignation, which has been in Mr. Harrison's hands for some time, and consented to retain his position during the remainder of the administration.

The latest move of the anti-Cleveland democrats is the starting of a boom for Hon. William R. Morrison ("Horizontal Bill"), at present a member of the Interstate Commerce Commission. Representative Sayers, of Texas, who is filling the position of wet nurse to the boomlet, indulges in the rainbow prediction that Mr. Morrison could not only carry all of the doubtful States, but Illinois, Wisconsin and Michigan besides. There's no tariff on talk, and Mr. Sayers might have included the entire Union just as well, and with just as much foundation.

I understand, from a source that has always proved trustworthy, that a majority of the House committee on Rules favor making a favorable report to the House on the resolution recently offered providing for an investigation of the charges that twenty seven Representatives and Senators were members of pools formed to speculate in silver bullion while the silver bill, which became a law at the last session of Congress, was pending, and that such a report will be made in a few days.

Mr. Ryan, our minster to Mexico, will return to his duties in a few days, and I violate no confidence in saying that he will carry with him full instructions as to his line of action, in promoting reciprocity between this country and Mexico. The President and Mr. Blaine are both very much interested in this matter, and are prepared to go as far as they can without conflicting with the protection of American industries.

Secretary Proctor's family had a narrow escape Saturday afternoon. They had just left a large double sleigh to go into a store, when the horse in some manner became frightened and ran away, smashing the sleigh to pieces and badly injuring the driver.

Everything is in readiness, and the programme for the President's official New Year's day reception has been made public. It will not differ materially from those previously held

Death of Dr. P. T. Musser.

A letter from Aaronsburg announces the sad fact of the death of Dr, P T Musser, in that place this morning. The deceased was one of the most prominent citizens, as well as oldest of that locality. He was aged about 63. The cause of his death was a complication of diseases, chiefly of rheumatism, neuralgia and such ailments.

What the Grange has Accomplished.

Through the influence of the Granges upon the National Legislature the extension of the patents on sewing machines was prevented, saving to the people fully fifty per cent. in the prices, amounting to millions of dollars annually. Through what is known as Grange legislation transportation companies have been brought under the control of the law bringing out the decision of the Supreme Court of the United States that the creature cannot be greater than the creator; that transportation companies are subject to the control of the Government.

Through the influence of the Grange the National oleomargarine law was passed, controlling and restricting the sale of adulterated butter; requiring oleomargarine, butterine and suine to be branded and sold as such, thus protecting the consumer. Also the State oleomargarine law which prohibits the manufacture and sale of oleomargarine in this Commonwealth.

Through the influence of the Grange legislation has been secured driving out from this country alien landlords, reserving American land for actual settlers, and preserving our public domain for American homes.

Through the influence of the Grange the Interstate Commerce law was passed, which will, in due time, bring the entire transportation facilities under National control, protecting the people as well as the transportation companies.

Through the influence of the Grange the Agricultural Department, presided over by a Secretary of Agriculture in the President's Cabinet, was created thus giving the farmers a voice in the National government as it affects the agricultural interests.

It was through the influence of the Grange that the appropriation for public schools was increased from $1,000,000 to $2,000,000 per annum, thus saving the farmers that amount of local taxation.

It was through the influence of the Grange that many important changes have been made in the State Revenue laws, among which may be mentioned, the law paying back into the county treasury one half the taxes levied and collected on monies at interest and one third of the amount of license fees.

It was through the influence of the Grange that the present State Revenue Commission is now sitting to revise the whole system of local taxation, which revision will save to the farmers of the State millions of dollars.

It was through the influence of the Grange that a direct co-operative trade system has been established, through which the farmers can purchase direct from the manufacturers and importers.

It was through the Grange that the farmers' social and political influence has been enlarged and knowledge of public affairs advanced, and it will be through the Grange that the tariff and currency question will finally be settled on a just and equitable basis.

We might cite many other achievements by the Order in a national way, but do not deem it necessary to do so.

Who will say that the Grange has not accomplished much in the short time of its existence as a national organization.

I have only spoken of the work of the Order in a general sense. What might not be said of State legislation that has been secured; but even all the great achievements of the Order in a legislative sense are not to be compared with the great fraternity that it has established among the agricultural people; the men and women that it has raised up and educated, making them the brightest and most useful citizens of the land. Men and women that any nation could well be proud of. How it has quickened into life and usefulness the society of the rural districts, saving hundreds and thousands from the despondency of want of opportunity for intellectual improvement and social accomplishments.

The Grange is the only organization of farmers that has permanency or gives reasonable hope of being perpetuated and having its sphere of usefulness enlarged. Farmers should come into the Grange and marshal a solid front instead of dividing up into other organizations and thus weakening the power they should and could wield if arrayed in solid phalanx under one banner. Parents in the rural districts cannot afford or even be excused for not giving their children the opportunities of the Grange for mental and social improvement. If they leave their parental roof seeking for just such opportunities as ought to be accorded at home you are responsible.

There has not been for years a more auspicious time to get farmers to join the Grange than at present. All that is needed is for our members to take advantage of the favorable opportunities presented.

From nearly everywhere come inquiries in reference to the Order, and words of approval and encouragement.

During the present year we have already organized ninety two new Granges, reorganized twenty four Dormant Granges, and increased our membership six thousand. The glorious work is progressing and we should not slacken our efforts in that direction.

Every individual member owes something to the Order, and can do much to encourage the work.

All that is needed at present to build up the Order is to give the farmers an opportunity to join the Grange, by inviting them to join.

We want the National Grange treasury, the State Grange treasury, the County Grange Treasury and every subordiante Grange Treasury to have ample funds to enable them to do their work acceptably and thoroughly.

The great and grand object and crowning glory of our organization is to "educate and elevate the American farmer."

LEONARD RHONE.

Getting Started.

One of the great things in life is to get started. The shores are lined in every direction with crafts of all sizes which seem unable to get themselves launched; they are eager for the water, but they fail to reach it. A host of men and women are in this position; they are bewailing the fact that they are not at work, and are going about in every direction seeking for openings, but they find nothing to their mind. Now, while it is true that there is more difficulty in many cases than to get a start in life, it very often happens that the inherent difficulty of the undertaking is immensely increased by the lack of practical sense on the part of the man or woman who is making the endeavor. Gaspar Becerra, in Longfella's poem, waited a tedious time for the wood fit to receive the immage which he meant to carve when the proper material came to hand, Despairing at last of not securing what he was waiting for, he picked up the thing nearest—a piece of burnt wood—and carved his immage out of that. It was a wise decision, but it would have been wiser if it had been reached earlier. Too many men and women wait for "just the thing" they want, not knowing that just the things one wants are very difficult to get, and when gotten, often turn out to be the very things one does not want. The true way to get a start in life is to take the first chance of getting into the race. It may be a very inferior and unattractive chance, but it is a chance nevertheless. It takes one out of his stationary, waiting position, gets him into the field, loosens his limbs, and puts him into training for whatever lies before him; and it often happens that these very unpromising chances are straight roads to fortune. No man ever succeeds who refuses to do anything until he can do it on his own terms. We must begin as servants if we wish to end as master. We must take what we can get if we hope finally to get what we want. The first opportunity is the best opportunity if it really opens a door into life.

Two Pardons.

On Tuesday the Board of Pardons now in session at Harrisburg granted a pardon to Ed. C. Loveland, of Lock Haven. Loveland will be remembered as the young man of good family who betrayed a young lady and then by malpractice caused her death. His sentence was twelve years, and now, after serving about eighteen months, he has been pardoned out mostly, it is believed, on account of the illness of his father, T. P. Loveland, whose illness is of such a character that he cannot live long.

Another pardon granted was that of Fietta Weaver, which was granted on Wednesday. Fietta is a native of this county and was last April sentenced to two years in the Western Penitentiary for killing her father-in-law in a general family quarrel at their home back of Coburn. It was generally believed that the woman's action was justifiable, but the jury found her guilty of murder in the second degree, and the judge was obliged to impose a light sentence. W. E. Gray, Esq., her attorney, lately interested himself in her behalf, and now, through his kindness, she is again a free woman.

"John, the doctor says I must give up wine, but I think I must have one more bottle, even though it kill me." "All right your honor, I will cheerfully die with you."

JANUARY'S WEATHER.

Rev. Mr. Hicks Again Tells Those who Believe Him what to Expect.

Rev. Ire R. Hicks, the St. Louis weather prophet, announces the following as his meteorological menu for January:

The new year will open with fair, cold weather generally except possibly the hindermost parts of departing storm movements about the Gulf of St. Lawrence and the extreme East Atlantic coast. Near the 3d a reactionary wave will pass eastward, raising the temperature and provoking more or less snow, rain and storminess. Look for a cold northwestern wave to follow, holding its frosty grip on most parts of the continent, until the elements begin to organize under the growing influence of the next storm period.

From the 8th to the 12th will be the next period, with 9th, 10th and 11th as central danger days. A cold wave, with temporary high barometer, sufficient to mislead mercurial weather predictors, may run immediately ahead of sudden change to storms at this time. Don't be deceived by this, or by bright, warm skies following. The period is sure to bring its quota of storms, on and about the days named, and then to be followed in turn by another very cold wave, which will abide in hard freezing weather until the reactionary movements on the 15th and 16th. Cold waves, generally of a secondary character, follow all the reactionary, as well as the regular periods. So it will be after the reactionary 15th and 16th.

From the 18th to the 23d expect the next general storm movements. The moon's first quarter on the 17th may hasten the developments in warm currents and storm results to the west as early as the 17th. Strong easterly winds, cold, but changing to southerly, meantime, will be blowing in the Atlantic coast regions. Look for rain or snow—perhaps blizzards to the north—followed by the regular northwesterly freezing blast. Warmer skies and softer winds in the south, resulting in some storms on and next to the 26th and 27th.

The cold wave following the reactionary 25th and 27th will abate as we approach the end of the month. On the 31st falls the equinox of both Vulcan and Mercury, and the moon's last quarter on February 1. January is apt to go out warm in most parts, with very active storms beginning to show themselves to the west. There are reasons to apprehend the hardest storms of the winter during the month of February. Our reasons, with minute explanations, warnings and dates, will be found in our February forecasts.

General Hastings.

There is no doubt of the fact that Adjutant General Hastings has been one of the best officers of that position, if not the best, this State has ever had. He seems to be peculiarly fitted for military organization and command and perhaps no other Adjutant General was ever so popular with the soldiers of the State National Guard. Although a strict disciplinarian General Hastings possesses the esteem and regard of the men and it must be admitted that his departure from that high post at the expiration of his term will be regretted by all parties no matter how good a man may succeed him. From present appearance General Hastings will be the next candidate for Governor. It would have been decidedly better for that party had he been their nominee this year. They would then at least been under an honorable leadership.—L. H Democrat.

A Rare New Year's Greeting.

Among greetings for the New Year the heartiest and happiest come from the January number of "The Ladies' Home Journal." George William Curtis, Oliver Wendell Holmes, James Whitcomb Riley, George W. Childs and Will Carleton join with Henry M. Stanley, John Wanamaker, Rutherford B. Hayes, Joseph Jefferson, Lawrence Barrett, Dr. Talmage, Bishop Newman and many other well known men, to weave for the women of America a garland of good wishes for 1891. It is a perfect treasury of kindly words and bright thoughts, and every woman should read what these great men wish for her. If this number is a fair index the present volume of the Journal will be an especially rich one. Issued at one dollar a year by the Curtis Publishing Company, 435 Arch street, Philadelphia.

What the Miners Want.

A result of the recent convention of miners at Altoona, the following demand has been made by the delegates in behalf of the United Mine Workers of America, within the territory of Districts 1 and A. The threat carried with it is to the effect that unless they are complied with by operators by January 1st, 1891, all work will be suspended from that date until they are:

To all Coal Operators in Districts 2 and A Shipping Bituminous Coal to the Eastern and Seaboard Markets:

Gentlemen—At a convention held in this city on December 17, 18, 19 and 20, composed of the representative miners from the various regions in the territory of districts 2 and A, of the United Mine Workers of America, it was decided that we demand a change in the price of mining from fifty cents gross ton to fifty cents net ton:

That the company shall deduct from the miners' wages the checkweighman and all other assessments the miners may direct, and the following scale of prices and rules are demanded for the drivers and mine laborers:

First—Pay for all the time they are kept waiting for cars.

Second—Not less than one half day for any overworked time.

Third—The driver's time to commence when he starts to harness his mule or mules in the stable, and his day's work to end when they are unharnessed.

Fourth—At any time when the stables are in the mines the driver's time shall commence when he enters the mine to begin a day's work, and end when he goes out of the mine.

Fifth—All drivers and laborers shall get an equal share of all work done in and around the mines at all times.

Sixth—Drivers and laborers shall be advanced in proportion to any advance in the price of mining.

Seventh—In case a mule is hurt or killed the driver shall not be discharged or suspended for the same unless it is proven that it was through the carelessness of the driver that the mule or mules were hurt or killed.

Eighth—No driver or laborer shall be discharged for acting on any company for his fellow working men.

Ninth—All drivers' and laborers' time for a day's work shall be to start at 7 o'clock and end at 5 o'clock, except on Saturday, when the day shall end at 4 o'clock, taking one hour for dinner, and the dinner hour to be from 12 to 1 o'clock each day.

Tenth—In no case shall drivers and laborers start to work unless assured of a half day's time.

Eleventh—Drivers' wages, at the mining rate of fifty cents per net ton, shall be $2.20 per day.

Twelfth—Any driver driving more than one mule shall be paid ten cents extra for each additional mule.

All the foregoing scale of prices to take effect January 1, 1891. If the demands herein made are not complied with, work will be suspended at once until they are.

Please post notices at your mines as to your decision on the above demands or notify the president or secretary of the district you operate in.

From the Sunny South.

SAN ANTONIA, Texas, December 27.—It is seldom that anything is published by the newspapers of the northern States concerning south-west Texas, and as there are many things here that will certainly interest the average reader, I send you something concerning this section as an agricultural country. I have made extensive and thorough observations on that particular branch of industry here, and the result so far exceeds all expectations that I am not only surprised but astonished. The capabilities and actual productiveness of the soil, which, when combined with climate and other advantages are certainly destined to make this the most valuable farming region in the world.

I had always had the idea, in common with so many other people in the north, that southwest Texas was a bleak, desolate region, where "water was an unknown quantity," and where not even sufficient prairie grass was grown to afford decent pasturage for cattle and sheep. Instead of it being a country, such as I had pictured in my mind, I find it to be the best all around agricultural and stock grazing region that is to be found anywhere. I have particular reference to that section which lies between this city and the Gulf coast, a distance of 160 miles. There is a belt of country extending about 300 miles eastward from El Paso, Texas, that can never be developed into an agricultural country except by irregation, but all that extensive territory, lying tributary to San Antonio is capable of producing all kinds of fruit and grain.

Thousands of new settlers have come into this country within the past few months and the large ranch tracts are rapidly being cut up into small farms and sold cheap to the new citizens. A number of colonies have also arrived from various parts of the north, mostly from Kansas and Nebraska. They are located along the lines of railroad and are now engaged in preparing the ground for next season's crops, which are of greater variety here than in any other known country. In the southern tier of countries are the very best of sugar producing lands, where large quantities of sugar cane are profitably cultivated. The various fruits known to the northern latitute, such as peaches, pears, plums, strawberries, blackberries and grapes, including also semi-tropical and tropical fruits—oranges, bananas, figs, apricots, etc., are grown to perfection. A prominent wine-grower of California, who has a vineyard of several hundred acres in the grape region of that State, has a large ranch near this city where he has been experimenting in grape culture during the past few seasons. He told me recently that his experiments have convinced him that southwest Texas is destined to be the greatest wine growing region in the world and that possesses many advantages over California for successful grape culture. One of these advantages is that they are ripe and can be marketed here two weeks earlier than the California fruit. He is arranging to put out a vineyard that will embrace several hundred acres of his ranch land.

There is probably no other country where cotton, corn and other grain and grasses of all kinds; peaches, plums, and other fruits all grow to perfection on the same lands and where two crops can be harvested and raised on the same land during a single season. The chief product of the lands now under cultivation is cotton. The staple marketed in this city is the finest raised in the entire south, and commands a higher price than any other. The yield is from one-half to one and a-half bales (500 pounds to the bale) to the acre. The 'beauty' about farming in southwest Texas is that the crops require but little cultivation as compared with those on poor and worn out land in the north. Then here one can work in the open air at all seasons of the year, as it seldom frosts and the heat in summer is never intense or oppressive, as is generally supposed. The greatest of all the advantages, however, are the cheap lands and cheap living to be found down here, making this section a veritable farmers' Paradise.

Married 'Em in a Bunch.

There lived some years ago in Western Pennsylvania an old circuit preacher, whose general humor and kindliness of heart had greatly endeared him to all the people of his district. He was a particular favorite with the young folks matrimonially inclined, and his "opportunities to "tie the knot" were numerous. Upon one occasion he found on his arrival at a certain town several couples awaiting his blessing. The old man was tired, and wished to make short work of the job.

"Stand up," he began, "and jine hands." Which being done, he rattled through a marriage service that, like himself, was original.

"There," he said, when it was finished, "ye can go; ye're man and wife, every one o' ye."

Two of the couples hesitated, and finally made it apparent that in the sudden 'jining' they had become confused and had taken the hands of the wrong persons. The old preacher's eyes twinkled as he took in the situation, but he instantly straightened up, and with a waive of his hand dispersed them.

"I married ye all," he said. Sort yourselves."

A Thankful Deacon.

The importance of thinking before you speak recently received an amusing illustration at a meeting held in a well known town not a hundred miles from the banks of the Hudson. One of the persons who occupied the stage was an enthusiastic deacon, who frequently interrupted the speakers by saying:

"Thank goodness for that!"

One old gentleman was called upon, who arose and said:

"Ladies and gentlemen, I am heart and soul in this case, and feel that it will be a great benefit to the people of this place."

"Thank goodness for that!" yelled the deacon.

"But, ladies and gentlemen," he continued, "I am very sorry to tell you that it will be impossible for me to address you this evening—"

"Thank goodness for that!" broke in the absent minded deacon, amid great laughter.—[N. Y. Ledger.

BAD INDIANS ESCAPE.

After Surrendering to Col. Sumner They Fly for the Bad Lands.

TROOPS IN HOT PURSUIT.

Capt. Fountain and His Troop of Eighty Men Hemmed in by Five Hundred Indians—They Were Surrounded in the Middle of the Night.

PINE RIDGE AGENCY, S. D., Dec. 26.—There was mounting in hot haste here Wednesday when the news came that 200 of the Sioux braves who surrendered to Col. Sumner had escaped and were on their way to the Bad Lands.

Gen. Miles telegraphed Gen. Brooks to send out troops to head off this party. In just an hour four companies of the Ninth cavalry, with pack animals, two Hotchkiss guns and one mortar, were trotting down the road and were soon lost to sight over the hills to the north. A wagon train and escort followed later.

Col. Henry is probably too late to prevent the union of the warriors and will go into camp on White river, twenty miles east of the Bad Lands. If these bucks unite with Kicking Bear's band in the latter's stronghold, there will be a bloody fight before the redskins are induced to surrender again.

The Indians who got away from Col. Sumner were a part of Big Foot's band, and included many of Sitting Bull's followers. They were proceeding under escort toward the Missouri river when, without stopping to say good-by, they disappeared. There is likely to be a sudden advance now on the Indian stronghold in the Bad Lands. It is expected that the Seventh cavalry will leave without a Christmas supper and attack the Bad Lands gang from the south. The peace party stand no show of doing anything, and now everybody rejoices that the ice is broken at last and is anxious to go with the Seventh and see the Bad Lands battle.

Surrounded by Five Hundred Indians.

DICKINSON, N. D., Dec. 26.—Capt. Fountain and Lieut. Sydenham's troop of Eighth cavalry, with about eighty men, are surrounded by 500 Indians in the Cave Hills, eighty miles south of Dickinson, in one of the worst spots in the Bad Lands.

Capt. Fountain's company has been making forced marches for the past ten days, gaining rapidly on the remnant of Sitting Bull's band, who have joined forces with Short Bull's and Kicking Bear's bands of 400. Capt. Fountain's cavalry camped for the night three days ago and were surrounded during the night.

Couriers found great difficulty for forty-eight hours in getting through the Indian lines, and arrived at New England City after a sixty-five mile ride in fourteen hours. First Lieut. Ord, of the Twenty-second cavalry, camped at New England City. Forty men left for Cave Hills to Fountain's assistance.

Following Up the Stragglers.

RAPID CITY, S. D., Dec. 26.—Col. Merriam is following up the stragglers from Hump's camp, who have broken through the cordon and are supposed to have joined the Indians in the Bad Lands. The majority of the outlying troops are now concentrating along the Cheyenne river and the order is daily expected to close in on the renegades. The Indians set fire to a ranch belonging to a man named McCormick. Troops were immediately sent out, but on arriving at the ranch found nothing but a heap of smouldering ashes. The Indians had taken everything of value, burned tons of hay and killed nine beeves. McCormick and his family had left the ranch some few days ago.

A LOYAL WIFE'S REWARD.

She Unearths Corrupt Evidence and Secures Her Husband's Release.

PITTSBURG, Dec. 26.—Frank A. Aldrich, of Stanford, Kan., was on Nov. 23, 1889, sentenced to seven years and six months in the western penitentiary for bunconing J. K. Lemon, a wealthy resident of Allegheny, out of $10,000. Wednesday the state board of pardons recommended that Aldrich be set at liberty.

It seems that Aldrich was convicted on evidence that was probably manufactured in order to get a reward.

These facts were developed and brought before the board of pardons through the perseverance and energy of Mrs. Aldrich. In addition to collecting evidence that satisfied even the prosecutor that her husband was the victim of a conspiracy and induced him to join in the petition for pardon, she interested United States Senators Ingalls and Quay, Congressman Anderson, of Kansas, and other prominent persons in the case. She had $10,000 when she began her work, but now she is nearly penniless.

Killed on Her Birthday.

NEWARK, N. J., Dec. 26.—Another fatal accident occurred on the Newark Passenger Railway company's electric road Wednesday night. Mrs. Christina Burns, 76 years old, had been standing opposite her own house at Albert avenue and Joseph street, talking to a neighbor, and then started to cross the street. When she reached the middle of the track she was struck by an electric "jigger" used on an annex of the line, and was knocked down and her skull fractured. When picked up she was unconscious, and died a half hour later. The motor man, H. Spaulding, and the conductor, Charles Tompkins, were arrested. A strange feature of the accident is the fact that this was the unfortunate woman's birthday.

Uncle Sam Gets His Own Again.

MILWAUKEE, Dec. 26.—Joseph Lalone, of Dodge county, was in 1888 awarded a pension, with $5,263 back pay, because he was paralyzed. He gave it to his wife and she bought a farm, depositing the balance of $1,500 in a bank. It was afterward learned that Lalone's paralysis was the result of an accident several years after the war closed. The government brought suit for recovery, and has just been awarded the farm and the $1,500 balance.

One Killed, Two Fatally Injured.

CLEVELAND, O., Dec. 26.—The explosion of a boiler that was being used for drilling a saline well on Armitage street yesterday caused the instant death of Moritz Shriner, a workman. Thomas Fox and Frank Griner were fatally injured, and two other men were badly bruised.

Cremated in His Home.

ALTOONA, Pa., Dec. 26.—The residence of Peter Ermine at Wilmore was burned Wednesday. Mr. Ermine was burned to death, but his wife and children escaped.

THERE CAN BE NO COMPROMISE.

Mr. McCarthy Says All the Idea of Reconciliation Must Be Abandoned.

BOULOGNE, Dec. 26.—In an interview Justin McCarthy declared that his idea in coming here was to inform Mr. O'Brien fully in regard to recent occurrences in Ireland. Mr. McCarthy said he believed that, in view of Mr. Parnell's declarations after the Kilkenny election, all idea of a reconciliation between the two factions of the Irish party must be abandoned. Mr. O'Brien, he continued, was eminently a patriot, and might have left America with the intention of effecting a reconciliation; but occurrences since his departure would cause him to find this impossible. Even negotiations were hardly possible, he added, as no basis for a settlement of the dispute existed, Parnell having refused to accept the result of the Kilkenny election as a verdict, and having declined to abandon the leadership.

LONDON, Dec. 26.—T. P. O'Connor, M. P., said that both himself and his colleague, John Dillon, were awaiting anxiously the outcome of the conference in France between William O'Brien and Mr. Parnell, now that the former has reached there. How it would end he could not undertake to say, but it was certainly safe to assert that there could be no compromise which did not involve Parnell's retirement from the leadership.

DUBLIN, Dec. 26.—In an interview Mr. Parnell said that he would go from here to Paris to offer his congratulations to Mr. O'Brien on the success of the latter's mission to America. In regard to himself, he said that he would not recede one inch from his position. After his return from France he proposes to resume his campaign, beginning at Limerick.

A MIND READER'S FEAT.

P. A. Johnstone Gives an Exhibition of His Powers to Newspaper Men.

NEW YORK, Dec. 26.—Mind Reader P. Alexander Johnstone, at one time of St. Paul, Minn., who some time since startled Chicago with the mind reading feats he performed there, gave an exhibition of his mind reading to a number of members of the press Wednesday afternoon under conditions that would seem to preclude collusion or fraud. He drove in a cab to the Hoffman house at a rapid rate of speed, while securely blindfolded, and picked out on the register the name of L. L. Lewis, that had been previously selected by a committee. He then jumped into a cab and drove down Broadway together with the members of the committee to the Fifth Avenue hotel, led the committee with a rush up to the second floor, where almost immediately he picked out a needle which had previously been concealed in the tapestry by members of the committee.

Mr. Johnstone was blindfolded in this manner: A kid glove was placed over either eye, around these being tied a heavy silk handkerchief, while over all a heavy hood was drawn. It was while thus securely blindfolded that the mind reader made the successful tests above described.

Dunlap Must Stay in Prison.

BOSTON, Dec. 26.—The governor's council has referred to the council of 1891 James Dunlap's petition for a pardon. He was sentenced thirteen years ago to twenty years' imprisonment for the Northampton bank burglary; four years will be taken off as commutation for good behavior, so that he has three years to serve. His first petition was rejected, but two years ago the council of 1888 decided that as there were some reasons in favor of a pardon three years would be about the right amount of time to remit. Dunlap had served three years in the war. Accordingly the council referred it to the council of 1890, with the recommendation that it be then granted. This recommendation, however, has been disregarded. He must wait till some time next year before he can hope for release.

Two Disastrous Boston Fires.

BOSTON, Dec. 26.—Two fires, discovered about the same time, occasioned three alarms about 9 o'clock Wednesday night. The first one was in the large five story brick block corner of Albany and Briston streets, known as "Bristol Block," and occupied by Joseph F. Paul's Sons and many other concerns, all engaged in wood manufacturing. The fire was principally in the northern end of the building, and was subdued only by heroic work. The second fire was in the building 64 to 80 Wareham street, occupied by the New England Organ company, and this structure was entirely burned, only a small portion of the walls remaining. By the first fire the losses are estimated at $40,000 and by the second at $150,000.

Switchmen Accept the Compromise.

CHICAGO, Dec. 26.—The western switchmen have all agreed to accept the compromise offered by the railroads, under which the switchmen will be divided into two classes, according to the point at which they work, the first class to receive the Chicago schedule of wages and the second class to recive $5 per month less. The points placed in the first class are Milwaukee, St. Paul, Minneapolis, Kansas City, Omaha and Peoria. The Rock Island also places Des Moines and Rock Island in the first class, and on the Northwestern Clinton is made first class. The companies affected are the Milwaukee and St. Paul, Rock Island, Illinois Central and Chicago and Northwestern railroads.

To Remove to Sing Sing.

ELIZABETH, N. J., Dec. 26.—Owing to the discontinuance of the ferry between this city and New York, it is definitely announced that the Monster Pipe works on Erie street will remove their plant on Jan. 5 to Sing Sing, N. Y., where the main works of the firm are situated. The Elizabeth branch furnished employment to about forty men at fair wages, and has been established here several years. The stopping of the ferry by which the company did most of its shipping has forced it to ship its products by rail to New York, thus entailing a heavy expense and largely curtailing the profits.

A Child Burned to Death.

BOLIVAR, N. Y., Dec. 26.—Fire destroyed two large dwellings on Liberty street and burned to death a little child. The two houses burned were owned by Mrs. Bielman and Frank Dean and were valued at $800 and $500 respectively. The child burned was the adopted daughter of Oliver Beckwith. The little one was burned to a crisp in its bed.

A Convicted Murderer's Suicide.

DALLAS, Tex., Dec. 26.—S. E. Lane, who murdered J. W. Wilson in this city in 1888 for slandering his wife, committed suicide in the city prison. The poison is supposed to have been smuggled in by his wife. Lane had been convicted of the crime and was awaiting the final decision of the court of appeals in his case.

BRIEF MENTION.

A company with $25,000,000 of capital has been formed to colonize 5,000 European families on the public lands of Brazil.

Ernest Saegel, of South Bethlehem, Pa., aged 71 years, hanged himself because of grief over his wife's death.

President Lindley, of the Illinois Farmers' Mutual Benefit union, and President Crum, of the Farmers' Alliance of that state, allege that a conspiracy has been formed by the Chicago Live Stock Exchange to prevent any one not a member of the exchange from doing business at the Union stock yards.

The Masonic temple, Baltimore, in which Forepaugh's theatre was located, was destroyed by fire, causing a loss of about $300,000.

At St. Paul Silas Mickles, colored, stabbed and killed his stepdaughter, wounded his wife, perhaps fatally, and then killed himself.

Maggie Murphy and Edward McDermott got into a row at a party given by a friend in Jersey City. Miss Murphy, who is only 15 years old, hit McDermott on the head with an ax, crushing in his skull. The girl was arrested, and McDermott was sent to the city hospital.

The czar is reported to have ordered 11,000 alien workmen to leave Russia. This is construed to be the result of gratuitous foreign advice on the affairs of the empire.

Samuel Malone and John Hicks were burned to death in their dwelling at Holden, Mo. It is thought robbers drugged the men and then set the house on fire.

In a spasm of religious frenzy a young woman at Watterheim, Rheinland, mutilated herself in a horrible manner and then appeared at a religious ceremony, where she exhibited her wounds, and claimed that they were an example of the crucifixion.

J. C. Calcutt, a private watchman in Norfolk, Va., was shot and killed by J. E. Brady for refusing to arrest a man. The murder took place in the presence of Calcutt's wife and grandchildren.

The trial of Sawtelle for the murder of his brother was concluded at Dover, N. H. The prisoner was found guilty, and sentenced to be hanged the first Tuesday in January, 1892.

Frank E. Dickinson, of Dubuque, Ia., and Miss Minnie Brindage, of Long Island, were drowned while skating at Ann Arbor. Both were medical students at the university.

The bark Fred E. Richards, from Philadelphia for Havana, was lost at sea Dec. 12. The captain and crew took to the boats and were picked up by the Spanish bark Felo, which took them to Brunswick, Ga., where they now are.

One hundred lives are reported to have been lost and hundreds of houses destroyed by the bursting of a canal at Cordova, in the Argentine Republic.

The Patients Doing Well.

NEW HAVEN, Dec. 26.—The lymph patients in this city are still progressing favorably and the inoculations will now be discontinued for a short time in order to give the patients a Christmas rest. Professor Chittenden believes that the large injections given by the New York and Philadelphia physicians in their experiments are not so apt to be favorable as smaller injections would be, and that the lack of moderation, both in the frequency and quantity of applications, is largely responsible for the death of so many patients in Paris and London. No official report has yet been made, but it is stated that there has been a decrease of the bacilli as shown by Professor Chittenden's microscopical examinations.

An Important Decision.

NEW HAVEN, Dec. 26.—Judge Hall, a Republican, has rendered an important decision in a contested judge of probate case at East Lyme. Judge Hall decides that a paster put on a blank space under the title "Judge of Probate" in a Prohibition state ticket makes the ballot illegal under the state ballot law. On almost all the Prohibition ballots in this state the judge of probate candidacies were left blank, and the name was written in for each probate district. Under Judge Hall's ruling this would throw out some 3,500 Prohibition ballots in the state and elects Morris (Dem.) governor by a large majority. Judge Hall's decision is the more significant, as it gave the Democratic candidate the office in the East Lyme district.

For Aiding an Anarchist.

PARIS, Dec. 26.—Yesterday was concluded the trial of Labruyere, the French anarchist journalist; Gregoire, also a French journalist, and Mme. Duquercy, all of whom are charged with complicity in the escape from Paris of Padlewski, the alleged assassin of the Russian police agent, Gen. Seliverskoff. Labruyere, who confessed to having aided Padlewski to escape, was condemned to an imprisonment of thirteen months. Mme. Duquercy, who concealed the missing Padlewski at her residence, was sentenced to two months' imprisonment. Gregoire, who requested the French consul at Palermo to place him under arrest, was sentenced by default to an imprisonment of eight months.

His Arm Amputated by Machinery.

WATERTOWN, N. Y., Dec. 26.—Emery Santimore, while using a scantling with which to shift a belt on the machinery of the concentrator at Little River mines, in the Adirondacks, received injuries which may prove fatal. The scantling slipped, and Santimore's arm went into the machinery and was cut off just above the wrist. He was also injured about the head and shoulders. His whole body would have been cut up if the scantling had not fallen into the machinery and stopped it.

Centre County's Paper Mill.

Several days ago a small item appeared in this paper relative to the organization of a corporation at Fleming, this county, for the purpose of erecting and operating a paper mill at that place. It is with pleasure that we can announce that the enterprise now seems assured. A meeting will soon be held—some time next week—at which capital will be subscribed by the leading business men and farmers of that community with which to purchase the site for the mill and help erect the same. It is also rumored that the firm of P. B. Crider & Son, of this place, will mostly erect the mill, and then the entire corporation operate it. It is said there is enough paper wood in that vicinity to stock a mill for 25 years. It is to be hoped that this new mill scheme is not only on paper but that it will prove to be one of the chief industries of Centre county and that in the near future.

A Beautiful Home Book has come to our notice entitled Golden Thoughts on Mother, Home and Heaven. Edited by Theo. L. Cuyler, D. D., and others. Its deserved popularity is attested by its wonderful sale of 200,000 copies. Our opinion of it is very cleverly expressed in the review given by the Detroit Christian Advocate.

"We scarcely can tell which is most attractive about this volume, its par excellent title, its 400 literary gems on the themes named, its brilliant array of distinguished writers, or its beautiful mechanical execution. It is a splendid book every way. A copy should be in every home, where every mother and every mother's friend can have access to it." Price $2.75. Gilt Edge in a box, $3 50. Agents are wanted by the publisher, E. B. Treat, 5 Cooper Union, New York.

Overreached His Purpose.

A fresh looking young fellow, accompanied by a demure looking young lady, got on a Troost avenue car at Twenty-third street yesterday afternoon to come down town. When the conductor came around for the fares the young man fumbled around in his vest pocket and then brought out a $100 bill, which he reached out to the conductor with two fingers.

'Nothin' smaller?' queried the official who had caught the distinct rattle of silver in the young man's pocket.

'The only change I've got,' returned the youth haughtily.

'Can't take it, then,' said the conductor, reaching for the bell rope.

The astonished youth looked frightened.

'What's the matter?' he exclaimed, as he thought of the rain and mud outside.

'Counterfeit—that's all,' calmly returned the conductor. 'Sorry you ain't got the change.'

The bell rope was pulled, and the youth got off with his girl. He had the change, but he was afraid to confess to a lie before the car full of passengers.

Pronounced Hopeless, Yet Saved.

From a letter written by Mrs. Ada E. Hurd, of Groton, S. D., we quote: "Was taken with a bad cold, which settled on my lungs, cough set in and finally terminated in consumption. Four doctors gave me up saying I could live but a short time. I gave myself up to my Saviour, determined if I could not stay with my friends on earth, I would meet my absent ones above. My husband was advised to get Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs, and Colds. I gave it a trial, took in all 8 bottles; it has cured me and I thank God I am now a well and hearty woman." Trial bottles free at W. C. Hoffinger & Co.'s, regular size 50cts. and $1.00.

—The people of this community will be pleased to know that there is now a movement being made towards the organization, or rather perfection of the organization of a new company, that will run the Centre Iron Company's furnace and works. Messrs. Robert Allison, S. George and Jacob D. Valentine, Daniel Rhoades, J. W. Gephart and John M. Dale have signed the certificate of incorporation and made application to the Governor for a charter. The new company will be called the "Valentine Iron Company," and it will probably [illegible] operations as soon as the charter papers are received which cannot be before the next term of Centre county court.

MR. BEACH IS ANGRY.

The Well Known Editor Is After the Spook Jugglers,

AND WILL MAKE IT LIVELY.

He Will Call Upon the Authorities to Drive Mme. Diss Debar and Her Gang Out of Town—The Madame Says She Will Sue.

NEW YORK, Dec. 26.—Mr. Alfred E. Beach, editor of The Scientific American, has been awakened to a realization of his responsibility in the matter by the exposure of the doings of the gang of spook jugglers who have gained influence over Mrs. Beach. It is the same old spiritualistic gang that hoodwinked the venerable Luther R. Marsh, and Mr. Beach is considering the advisability of calling upon Inspector Byrnes for assistance in driving them out of the city. Mr. Beach says that Mrs. Beach's mind had been under the spell of the Spiritualists for several years, but dread of notoriety had prevented his taking any radical steps to rid her of the scheming tribe that controlled her. His opposition to her association with the Ann O'Delia gang had been passive, because at first he had regarded Mrs. Beach's hallucinations as harmless.

Will Meet with a Warm Reception.

Mrs. Beach has some real estate in her own right, but as far as Mr. Beach knows it is still in her possession. Mrs. Beach was said to be prostrated as the result of excitement when a reporter called at her home, 9 West Twentieth street. Mr. Beach declares that if Ann O'Delia, alias Diss Debar, tries to enter his house again she will meet with a warm reception. The spook priestess called a few days ago, he says, but was not permitted to see Mrs. Beach.

Mrs. Beach has been a great admirer of the Diss Debar for years, and during the fat medium's trial at the Tombs in April, 1888, for deluding Luther R. Marsh, Mrs. Beach was an interested spectator, and on April 26 went on the stand in defense of the prophetess.

Mrs. Beach's "Amarona."

Mrs. Beach announced herself as a student of the occult forces and of facts that prove the immortality of the soul. She testified then that she had received from the madam a spook picture of the great "Amarona," which "came" under the medium's direction on Luther R. Marsh's canvas. Mrs. Beach explained on the stand that Amarona was a wonderful Egyptian magician, and had been materializing for her for three years past at Mrs. Williams'.

Mrs. Beach was a steadfast friend of Ann O'Delia, and now it is alleged that Mrs. Beach's projected Home for Indigent Mediums is an idea which was born in the fertile mind of Mme. Diss Debar. The high priestess is said to have put in the first dollar to start the fund. This dollar she claimed also "came" from the spirit world, and was convincing proof that the spirits heartily approved of the foundation of the home.

Her "Gallery of Art."

Mrs. Beach's private apartments are filled with the daubs which have "come" to her from the brushes of the ancient painters through a half dozen different mediums. The painting of "Zampa," which was one of the specimens shown at the exhibition of spirit art last Monday night, came to Mrs. Beach, it is said, through Mrs. Effie Moore, who poses as a materialistic medium at 365 Eighth avenue. Then Mrs. Beach has a large portrait of the old Egyptian Amarona. This old gentleman was transferred to canvas through the instrumentality of Dr. and Mrs. Henry Rogers, who are described as two well known "sensitives." It took ten days of hourly "sittings" by Dr. and Mrs. Rogers, and four sittings with Mrs. Beach, to bring things into a proper condition of harmony.

Mme. Diss Debar has written to Mr. Beach a letter of regret at the publicity given his wife, and says she will bring suit for libel against The Sun.

Alleged Boodleism in Iowa.

DES MOINES, Ia., Dec. 26.—Indictments charging conspiracy to defraud the county have been returned against the following constables and assistants: William Keller, J. Callendar, [illegible] Murdick, O. C. West, G. B. Hamilton and G. H. Cleggett. The indictments charge the defendants with defrauding the county by false pretenses and by means of using fictitious names in making returns for information and warrants never served and by agreeing together to obtain small quantities of liquor from parties which could be condemned, so that each of the constables in the "gang" could be subpœnaed and draw witness fees.

Fleecing the Ministers.

PLAINFIELD, N. J., Dec. 26.—Clergymen throughout central New Jersey have been victimized by two bogus candidates for marriage. The game the swindlers play is to appear before a minister and ask to be married. They go through the ceremony, give the minister a $20 bill, ask for $10 or $15 change and disappear. The $20 bills which they offer for the service are counterfeit. A local pastor says that he knows of nearly fifty clergymen in Union county who have thus been victimized, but he won't say who they are.

Sixty Thousand Laborers Out of Work.

BERLIN, Dec. 26.—Trustworthy statistics are authority for the alarming statement that there are 60,000 laborers of both sexes out of employment. Remembering that many of them have aged relatives and young children dependent on them, it will be seen that the number verging upon actual starvation is very great. At the beginning of a winter that has opened with unprecedented severity and the agitation kept up by the socialists the outlook is anything but encouraging.

Fired by Electric Wires.

PORT JERVIS, N. Y., Dec. 27.—The Erie railroad depot at this place was totally destroyed by fire last night. It was one of the handsomest passenger depots on the line of the road, and had been built only about three years. The fire is believed to have been caused by the crossing of electric light wires on the roof with those of the company connecting with the operating room, where the fire was first discovered.

A Disastrous Fire.

VIROQUA, Wis., Dec. 27.—Fire yesterday destroyed an entire business block, and it was only by great exertions on the part of firemen and citizens that the remainder of the town was saved. The total loss is estimated at $150,000 and the insurance $16,000.

STILL AMONG THE MISSING.

Murderer Wilson Enjoyed his Christmas Outside the Bellefonte Jail.

Notwithstanding the rewards offered and the diligent search made, Murderer John Wilson seems to have escaped as effectually as if he had faded into thin air or crawled into the ground and pulled the hole in after him. From the place where he crossed the prison yard wall and slid down the telephone pole to freedom the authorities have been completely at sea. No further positive trace has been discovered. The man may now be in Canada, or he may be in hiding in Bellefonte for all anybody knows of him. The county was pretty well scoured on Wednesday and yesterday and no trace of him was discovered.

It seems to be the prevailing opinion that he left Bellefonte on the early train Wednesday morning or else went to Milesburg and jumped a freight. Some think he went West, some East, some North, and some think he joined the Uncle Tom's Cabin Company that played here on Tuesday night and left Bellefonte with them. It is said that the men that composed the band with this troupe were the same men that belonged to the band that traveled with the show to which, it is alleged, Wilson belonged. Be that as it may, he is gone, and when he returns the DAILY NEWS will tell you all about it. Just at present there are too many theories and too many cranks around to give space to them all. For instance, there is the woman crank who wrote him letters that he should escape and she would marry him. There is the man who claims to be his brother and knows all about him. Then there is this man, and that man, who knows this and who knows that, but when they are all summed up together it is simply that nobody knows nothing.

—Nothing but a judicious outlay of a vast capital and a thorough knowledge of what the amusement loving public require, make such an aggregation as Col. Snellweisner's 'Two Thieves" a possibility, a company comprising the finest comedian, singers and dancers, together with the most startling novelties of two hemispheres. And don't forget that Manager Garman was smart enough to secure th show for one night, Tuesday, Jan. 6.

'Five years ago,' began the stranger to Wentman, 'I sought that woman to be my wife. I believed her congenial, light hearted and beautiful. Has our married life been pleasant? No!'

'No? Why not?' asked Wentman.

'Why not? Because she declined to marry me, of course.'

"Hello! Hello!! Hello!!!"

"Well; what is it?"

"How is your mother, this morning?"

"Very much better; she had a real restful sleep last night; she has almost rid of her night sweats, cough and nervousness, and is growing quite cheerful. How grateful we all are to you for that bottle of medicine."

"Don't speak of gratitude. What does the doctor say?"

"He says he never saw so wonderful a change in such a serious lung trouble. He still thinks we are giving his medicines. I don't like to tell him."

"That's right. He's an old friend, you know. I'm sure your mother will get well now; but you won't forget the name of the medicine, will you?"

"Never! Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery" are household words already, and it has come to stay. Do come and see what sunshine it has brought already, and let us thank you again for it."

"I will. Good bye."

The foregoing is a fair representation of a very common occurrence. "Golden Medical Discovery" has cured severe, lingering coughs and arrested Consumption, or Lung-scrofula, in thousands of cases after doctors have failed and other medicines have been tried and abandoned as useless. The "Discovery" is guaranteed to benefit or cure in every case, if taken in time and given a fair trial, or money will be refunded.

IN THE CLEARFIELD REGIONS.

A Disastrous Strike in the Coal Mines Imminent.

A gentleman who has just returned from the Clearfield coal regions stated to a DAILY NEWS reporter that a disastrous strike in the entire Clearfield and Centre fields seems almost an unavoidable thing. Owing to the action of the operators on the demands as made by the recent Miners' convention held at Altoona, the miners are in arms and declare they will fight for their rights. A special dispatch from Philipsburg thus states the outlook:

At a meeting of the operators of the Philipsburg and Beech Creek districts, held here this morning, the following action was taken, and intended to be in reply to the demand of their miners for an advance January 1:

"WHEREAS, There has been no advance in mining asked from competitive regions, and for part of this region, therefore be it

"Resolved, That we deem it unjust and uncalled for to make a demand for an advance in price in this region."

This action will lead to a strike on Thursday unless the miners weaken.

A mass meeting of the miners of Osceola, Philipsburg and the Beech Creek district has been called to meet at the opera house, this place, on the 31st to determine whether they will unit ewith the miners of Houtzdale, Galitzan, Horatio and other points in Division Q. in a suspension of mining on and after January 1. should the operators refuse the demand of 5 cents a ton made last week. As the Beech Creek region miners are, or have been, much more concerned in obtaining payment for what is known as dead work than they are for an advance in the mining rate, there is strong probability that should a suspension be ordered it will only be partial. In the Houtzdale district during the year 1890, the output decreased and work was very poor, and, as a natural consequence, the miners are pretty generally inclined to favor an advance in the mining rate, and voted such instructions to the delegates who went to Altoona On the other hand, in the Beech Creek district work during 1890 was better than during any year in its history, the output increasing upwards of a half million tons. The fair work of the past, with a promising outlook for still better work during 1891, causes the Beech Creek miners to think seriously before taking a step which many of them say will only result in injury to themselves without doing Houtzdale any good. It is quite likely that during 1891 the Beech Creek operators will be called on to pay for dead work, which in many mines means an increased cost of more than 5 cents a ton, unless a different method of working the coal is adopted.

CRUSHED BETWEEN BUMPERS.

McClellan Whiteman, Brakeman on the Snow Shoe, the Victim.

On Saturday morning, about 10.30 o'clock, an accident occurred at the freight depot in this place by which Mr. McClellan Whiteman, a brakeman on the Snow Shoe branch of the P. R. R., met an untimely death. Nobody saw the accident occur, but from what facts can be gathered it appears that Whiteman attempted to make a coupling, and while doing so stepped upon the rail. His foot slipped just as the cars came together; the unfortunate man fell right between the bumpers and was so badly crushed across the breast that he died about two o'clock.

As soon as discovered the young man was picked up and carried to the Bush House and Dr. Harris summoned. An examination revealed the sad fact that most all the ribs were broken and the internal injuries very serious. Nothing could avail to save the young man, and at two o'clock he expired.

"Clel." Whiteman was a young man 27 years of age and unmarried. He lived with his parents in Snow Shoe and was the only support of his aged and infirm mother and a blind and helpless father. Undertaker Harris prepared the body for burial, and it was then taken to Snow Shoe on the Saturday evening train. The funeral will occur some time to-day from his home in that place.

6,000 Miles in Ten Days.

On Monday evening, December 15th, Postmaster Fielder, of this place, started a letter via Washington and Southern mail route to San Francisco. On Tuesday, the 16th, he started another, via Tyrone and Northern mail route. His purpose was to test the rapidity of the United States mail. Both letters arrived in San Francisco on Sunday, the 21st, at 1.30 o,clock, p. m. They were started on the return trip at 7 o'clock that evening, and arrived in Bellefonte on Saturday morning, having made the trip of 5,968 miles in about ten days; or at the rate of 597 miles every twenty four hours. This is indeed fast mail facilities, and, when compared with the rate of mail transportation of "ye olden time," seems almost miraculous.

Lizzie Evans in "Fogg's Ferry."

A good sized and select audience greeted Lizzie Evans in "Fogg's Ferry" at the opera house on Tuesday evening. The company, though not a large one, is very fine. The playing of Miss Evans was especially good, and her dancing was the best seen in Bellefonte this season. Mr. Harry Mills, as "Gerald White," played his part to perfection; his singing was greatly appreciated and heartily encored. Mr. G. W. Spencer as "Still Bill," was the most amusing one on the stage. On the whole, Lizzie Evans is a success, and her support is above the average.

Not Yet Found.

At this writing, 9.30 a m., it is not yet certain that any of the men now held as Wilson, in various parts of the State, are that individual. According to the latest reports there are three men under arrest awaiting identification. Of course, only one can be the man. Sheriff Cook is now out on a trip in the Clearfield regions to see one man captured but so far no word has been received from him and it is not known who the man may be. Sheriff Wilson started out this morning. It hardly seems possible, with all the precautions now being taken and the vigilance of the officers in all parts of the State, that the man can escape recapture.

People having rheumatic, or consumptive tendencies, should heed the advice herein given. Their painful and dangerous diseases arise wholly from impure blood, causing a weakening of the system; are fed, and held in the system by impure blood, and cannot be driven out until the blood shall have been cleared. When this shall have been effected nature will do the rest and the days and nights of torture will be unknown.

Alike are the young, middle aged and older people swept from the face of the earth by thousands each year by these diseases, and there has never been known so powerful a preventive to such devastations, as is found in that great remedial agent,

New Year Words to Girls.

You are sitting quite quietly watching the old year as it fades away and the new one as it comes in. You think of all the joys and the sorrows that have come to you during 1890, and of your hopes and ambitions for 1891; you believe just as you did a year ago—that you will make a great resolve that the year shall be better and your life nobler and more unselfish than it was last year. Now don't do this. Don't make the big resolve. Think, hope and pray what you want to, but in its place make a lot of little resolves that each one of which will in time tend to make you reach the goal you desire to.

Resolve to think a little less about yourself and a little more of the comfort of others.

Resolve to be less quick of speech and more certain in your action than you have been.

Resolve not to let the wicked little demon of envy enter your heart and make you become bitter and fault finding.

Resolve to consider those of your own household; the inclination on the part of too many of us is to reserve our virtues and our graces for those outside, and this is all wrong.

My dear girls, you had better blush unseen, as good daughters and good sisters than gain all the fame imaginable as bright talkers and great beauties without any homely talent.

I like that word homely—I use it perhaps in a different sense from the one you give it, It means belonging to the home, and as the home is the place where love and charity should abide, so the talents that belong to it are best worth possessing.

God bless every one of you and give you some day a home of your own. It may come in the new year. It may be in the years that are far off, but if it never comes just remember that the talent of making a home may be yours, and even though you can only exercise it in a single room you must not bury it and count it of no value.—[Ruth Ashmore in Ladies' Home Journal.

This offer is only made during the holidays, and only one case to a family. Mr. Henry Stevens, of Half Moon township, is in Bellefonte, having arrived on the 4.20 train Monday afternoon. Mr. Stevens is one of the representative citizens of that end of the county and the Republican convention passed a good man by when they failed to nominate Mr. Stevens for County Commissioner. But, as the election turned out, Mr. Stevens feels no ways bad about the way he was put off then. And there is one thing certain, if ever he again desires to come before the people of Centre county for a similar favor he can do so without fear of being charged with any trickery on former occasions.

His death occurred on Sunday evening, and was caused by congestion of the brain. Dr. Dale was married less than a year ago. He had been practicing medicine about three years. Melancholy, Even Sad

America is a great country. Entire originality is not claimed for this remark, but it may be made the basis of a further remark that, great as we are, there are one or two things in which the effete monarchial countries have the better of us.

The particular instance I have in mind is the fact that our language contains not a single word of polite address to a stranger. We have, indeed, inherited in its entirety the true British attitude toward strangers—dumb reserve.

The languages of Europe abound in terms of polite—excrutiatingly polite—terms of address to strangers; even the phlegmatic Teuton, desiring to attract your attention, is able to make the initial assault upon your tympanum with a gracious sounding "Mein Herr."

But the citizens of this great and enlightened Republic, with a language in other walks of life so developed that he can gross over and make respectable a plain every day case of jim-jams by alluding to it as "ophidian hilarity;" who is able to speak of a single insignificant denizen of the sea as a pollycyttarian periphyllæn, silikoskeletal radiolarian; and who can express the exact measure of his regard for a given person by referring to him as distinguished, noted, honorable, distinguee, popular, genteel, well-bred, well-mannered, well-spoken, gentleman like, civil, polite, polished, refined thoroughbred, courtly, courteous, modish, stylish, jaunty, recherche, dashing, respectable, creditable, remarkable, notable, celebrated, refined, famous, far-famed, conspicuous, foremost, imperishable, deathless, immortal, time honored, eminent, prominent, peerless, superior pre-eminent, great, dignified, proud, noble, honorable, worshipful, lordly, grand stately, august, princely, imposing, transcendent, majestic, sublime, heroic, heaven born, or preterhuman, when he sees a gentleman drop his pocket book or unconsciously approaching danger, must be dumb or bellow out: "Hi, there!" "Say, Mister!" "Look out, Boss!" "Hey, old Cove!" or else open communication with the diluted idiocism; "I beg your pardon."—W. R. Cockrane, in Puck.

Every certificate we publish regarding Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup is genuine, and we will pay a reward of $1,000 to anyone proving the contrary in a single case.—A. C. Meyer, & Co., Balto., Md.

Shot in the Face.

MIFFLIN, December 25.—While standing on the fence at his home watching a shooting match along the river bank, between 3 and 4 o'clock this afternoon, Clarence Conrad, son of Jacob Conrad, of Patterson, was accidentally shot by Samuel Dunn. Dunn was putting a cap on his gun when his fingers slipped, discharging the gun, the ball entering young Conrad's face along the left side and coming out at the back of the neck. The injury is a very serious though not necessarily fatal one.

This is not merely a blow to make money, but it is an actual bonafide reduction of all Men's wearing apparel to wholesale cut prices for the purpose of making some radical changes in our stock and to commence business on January 1st or thereabouts with an entire different line of goods.

Remember that our entire stock is nearly all goods purchased this season. In our dry goods and dress goods lines we have the most complete stock in the county.

SAFE IN THE BAD LANDS

Big Foot's Band Elude the Troops and Join the Hostiles.

SCOUTS TWICE ATTACKED.

They Succeed in Repulsing the Indians, but It Is Not Known How Many Were Slain—All Signs Now Point to War.

RAPID CITY, S. D., Dec. 27.—Col. Sumner is still following up the Big Foot band, numbering about 330, that escaped from the camp on Cherry creek and headed southward toward the Bad Lands. Gen. Carr, who was moving his command to intercept them, has not been heard from for thirty-six hours. He may have intercepted them and turned them toward the Cheyenne river agency and had an engagement with them.

As the point the general expected to strike the Indians is about eighty miles southeast of this point, and no other means of communication is at hand but couriers, who take six to eight hours to reach this city, either event would be favorable, but should Big Foot succeed in avoiding either of the commands and get into the Bad Lands just at this time it would be a serious matter.

Gen. Brooke, at Pine Ridge agency, reports that a messenger has arrived from the hostile camp in the Bad Lands, and has word from Little Wound, By Road and Fast Thunder, the principal head men at Pine Ridge, in which they say that about one-half of those in that camp have signified their willingness to come in, and the general thinks the rest will follow, but this is doubted here.

Should this information prove true it is the most favorable that has been received from the hostiles since Two Strikes' followers left them. They then said they would not leave their village until the soldiers were moved away, and would die there before they made a move. It is hoped that the report that the messenger brought in may be verified, and that it may not be interrupted by any unforseen event.

Fifty Cheyenne Indian scouts from Fort Keogh arrived in the city last evening and immediately left for the front. They will be assigned to duty under Maj. Casey at the mouth of Battle Creek, on the edge of the Bad Lands.

Gen. Miles now has 3,000 troops in position within forty-eight hours' march of the Indian village in the Bad Lands, thus forming a complete cordon of that section.

Later—A courier has just returned from Gen. Carr's command, now at the head of Sage creek, and brings the information that Big Foot's band have succeeded in slipping by the troops sent out to intercept them and are now with the hostiles in the Bad Lands.

Scouts Attacked Twice.

CAMP NEAR BATTLE CREEK, S. D., Dec. 27.—The situation here remains practically unchanged. The weather is cold and the rivers are frozen solid. A company of Cheyenne scouts is encamped at the mouth of Battle Creek.

Two attempts were made Wednesday by the hostiles, who number about eighty, to break into their camp. The first attack was made by only a few of the Indians, who were quickly repulsed, with a loss of two killed and several wounded. Three of the Cheyenne Indian scouts were wounded, and it is thought that one is fatally hurt.

The second attack was made after dark by what was supposed to be the whole band, who were led by Kicking Bear himself. Volley after volley was fired on both sides, and a desultory fire was kept up by both parties for an hour or more.

It is not known how many of the hostiles were killed, but judging from the reports of one of the scouts there must have been several killed, as he says he heard several shout out in Sioux language that they were hit. Troops were sent to the scene at an early hour yesterday morning, and report everything quiet and no hostiles in sight.

Everything Says War.

PINE RIDGE, S. D., Dec. 27.—The peace party is on the way back bearing anything but a Christmas greeting to Gen. Brooke. They scored a monumental failure, just as every one but Brooke expected.

It is rumored around the camp that Little Wound and other chiefs are indulging in ugly threats since Col. Henry's troops started out. The Seventh cavalry had a Christmas tree and a general good time Wednesday night. The 200 braves who escaped from Col. Sumner it is believed have joined the hostiles in the Bad Lands, and all signs now point to war.

Still in Council.

OMAHA, Neb., Dec. 27.—A special from Pine Ridge says the Indians in the Bad Lands are still in council. Couriers came in yesterday with news that Short Bull has said that if the government will agree not to disarm his men nor take away their ponies he will come in. The Indians holding out fear that they are to receive oxen instead of ponies. A wagon train left Pine Ridge with camp supplies for the Ninth cavalry, which marched yesterday.

Organizing Citizens' Alliances.

WICHITA, Kan., Dec. 27.—The Citizens' Alliance, to act in towns as a part of the Farmers' Alliance, is being organized in every town in the southwest. The charter for the Wichita alliance shows twenty-five of the leading business men. In all the towns it is proposed to take an active part in municipal elections next spring. The organization work will be pushed as rapidly as possible, as it is thought it will be as formidable in the towns as the farmers are in the country.

Held Up the Trainmen.

ILNEY, Ills., Dec. 23.—Yesterday morning at 3 o'clock, while a Peoria, Decatur and Evansville freight train was taking water at a station two miles south of here, two masked men armed with revolvers boarded the caboose and demanded money from the occupants. The only persons in the car were a conductor named Hampton and a brakeman named Hall. From Hampton $47 and a gold watch were secured, and $15 and a silver watch from Hall. The thieves disappeared in the adjoining woods. When the train arrived in Peoria officers were sent out after the robbers, but no clew was obtained.

THE FEDERAL ELECTIONS BILL.

Judge Tourgee and Hon. Sherman S. Rogers Give Their Views of It.

BUFFALO, Dec. 27.—The Express publishes lengthy interviews with Judge Albion W. Tourgee and Hon. Sherman S. Rogers on the federal elections bill.

Judge Tourgee, who was the author of one of the election bills presented in congress, said: "There's only a slim chance of the elections bill being passed. The Republican party has thrown away a great chance. The programme which will now be carried out in the south is that which is already being carried out in Mississippi. Within a twelvemonth all, or nearly all the southern states will have effected similar legislation to that accomplished by the Mississippi convention, whereby the judges of election will have the power to say who the voters shall be under the order that voters must be able to read the constitution and comply with the other provisions of state law regarding the qualifications of an elector."

Judge Tourgee is of the opinion that Reed, of Maine, and Stanford, of California, will be the Republican presidential ticket in 1892.

Mr. Rogers does not favor the election bill. He thinks it an unwise measure, for one reason, because it does not command the entire support of the Republican party. Any bill, he said, that does not command the loyal support of its own party is a failure from the start. The bill may be right and the party may be wrong in not supporting it, but as long as it is not heartily supported such a bill would not succeed. He does not believe that there is sentiment enough in the north and in the south to back it up.

Mother and Children Roasted.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Dec. 27.—In a fire on Orchard street early Friday morning Mrs. John Diedrich and her three children were burned to death. The origin of the fire is a mystery. Mrs. Diedrich had arisen at 4 o'clock to start a fire in the kitchen stove, and awakened her husband soon after with an alarm of fire. She rushed in to save her three little children and perished in the flames. Her husband and one son escaped.

A Woman Burned to Death.

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 27.—A fire caused by the ignition of a Christmas tree almost totally destroyed the residence of Mr. Penrose, No. 2,106 Gratz avenue. Mrs. Fitzsimmons, the mother of Mrs. Penrose and the widow of a Brooklyn merchant, who was spending the holidays with her daughter, was burned to death before the firemen could reach her.

Adjourned to Tuesday.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 27.—When the house was called to order at noon Friday there were about fifty members present. Mr. McKinley moved that when the house adjourn it be to meet on Tuesday. Agreed to. The house then, at 12:10 p. m., adjourned.

Death in the Flames.

SARATOGA, N. Y., Dec. 27.—Mrs. Ellen Gibbons, aged 80 years, was burned to death at her house on Ash street early Friday morning. It is not known whether her death was accidental or self murder. The woman was addicted to smoking.

A Spectator Killed.

MIFFLINTOWN, Pa., Dec. 27.—During a rifle contest here the weapon in the hands of Samuel Dunn, one of the contestants, was accidentally discharged. Oscar Conrad, a spectator, was shot through the head and instantly killed.

One of the Risks He Took.

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 27.—James Walker, a burglar, was shot and killed last night by Private Watchman Butz while breaking into the fruit warehouse of Thomas G. Kane at No. 341 Delaware avenue. Walker was about 24 years old.

Boston Gets Some Lymph.

BOSTON, Dec. 27.—Dr. Beach, of the Massachusetts General hospital, this city, has received a package of lymph from Dr. Koch. It will be devoted to hospital use.

Ex-President Hayes' Chum Dead.

CINCINNATI, Dec. 27.—Dr. John Davis, one of the most prominent physicians of Cincinnati and president of the Law and Order league, died suddenly, aged 60 years. He was an intimate personal friend of ex-President Hayes, and the latter always made Dr. Davis' home his when in the city. The doctor leaves no children.

A Noted Safe Cracker Caught.

DULUTH, Minn., Dec. 27.—Edward Campbell, one of the most notorious safe crackers of the northwest, was arrested here in a lodging house. He is thought to be the robber of the Adams Express company's safe at Abercrombie, N. D. He acknowledges being wanted in North Dakota for safe cracking.

His Body Found in the Ruins.

BOSTON, Dec. 27.—The body of Frank McGovern was found in the ruins of the Bristol block, which was burned on Wednesday night. McGovern had been employed at odd jobs about the building, and had probably gone to sleep in the cellar and was smothered before he awoke.

Thrown from His Cutter and Killed.

BINGHAMTON, N. Y., Dec. 27.—William Carnavan, a well known and wealthy citizen of Susquehanna, was thrown from his cutter and instantly killed. The horse shied and tipped the cutter.

Maine's Juvenile Horse Thief.

LEWISTON, Me., Dec. 26.—In the last three weeks Horace Lawrence, 15 years old, whose home is in Arrowsic, has stolen four teams, besides forging orders and committing petty thefts. He was arrested some time ago for stealing a team at Damariscotta and his father settled the case. He stole a team at Bath, which was found in a neighboring town, another in Topsham, which was found in Lewiston, and last Friday one in Auburn, which is yet to be found.

Taken to England on a Murder Charge.

NEW YORK, Dec. 26.—John Bhagwan Jassamarra, the Lascar, for whose extradition a demand was made by the British government for the murder of Capt. Peter Lyall, of the British ship Buckingham, on the high seas, has been sent to England on the steamer Nevada.

Knocked Out in Twenty-two Rounds.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Dec. 26.—Johnny Van Heest, of Buffalo, and Tommy Hogan, of St. Paul, fought to a finish for a purse of $1,000 in the rooms of the Twin City Athletic club, of Minneapolis, Van Heest knocking out his man in the twenty-second round with a hard swing on the neck.

GEN. BOOTH'S SCHEMES.

Commissioner Smith's Resignation Deals Them a Death Blow.

THE HIBERNIAN DILEMMA.

O'Brien Believed to Lean Toward Parnell—A Suggestion That Sir John Pope Hennessy May Be Unseated. The Big Scotland Strike.

LONDON, Dec. 27.—The Times announces that Commissioner Smith, of the Salvation Army, has resigned, and says, at this critical period in the history of the army, it is most important, "because Mr. Smith formed the one substantial guarantee that an earnest and businesslike effort would be made to execute the practicable part of Gen. Booth's scheme of social regeneration. The secret authorship of 'In Darkest England' is now common knowledge, but the charitable hypothesis assigns Gen. Booth credit for having written at least two chapters of the book. Gen. Booth's explanation is that he supplied a professional writer with the materials for the work.

GEN. BOOTH.

"The question whether Gen. Booth, under these circumstances, was justified in allowing the book to appear as if written by himself is one of literary ethics, whereinto we have no right to expect Gen. Booth to enter. We believe that when the whole story is revealed it will be found that the substantial parts of the scheme of city and farm colonies originated with Mr. Smith.

"Gen. Booth, reluctantly accepting these, asserts that the ground of difference between Mr. Smith and himself is, that while Commissioner Smith always opined that it was absolutely necessary to keep the social working scheme as distinct as possible from the religious work of the army, Gen. Booth's method of inviting donations, despite his apparent willingness that the funds should be divided, leads to the mingling of all separate funds into one common fund, rendering it obvious that every contribution to a specific department sets a proportionate amount of the general fund free, to be spent at the discretion of Gen. Booth.

"Nothing but a sense of truth," the paper continues, "could have induced Commissioner Smith to resign at so important a juncture. There must be something wrong with the scheme or the management of the funds. Those who promised donations are now entitled to hold them until a full and satisfactory account of Mr. Smith's resignation is given. He was the life and soul of the social reform wing of the army. It is likely that his resignation is destined to be the death blow to Gen. Booth's more ambitious schemes."

The Irish Crisis.

LONDON, Dec. 27.—The political conundrum of the hour refers to the approaching meeting between Messrs. Parnell and O'Brien in Paris, and takes the shape of the query how the latter will manage to compromise with the Irish leader, seeing that Mr. Parnell is now unwilling to retire even temporarily from the field.

No one here has yet solved this Hibernian riddle, and it is generally thought that the odds are largely against Mr. O'Brien being any more successful. In this dilemma it is believed that the American envoy will do nothing, but that if any action is taken by him it will be more or less in Mr. Parnell's favor.

Liberal leaders are disquieted because of the feeling exhibited among British non-conformists regarding the interference of the clergy in the Kilkenny election. The ferment on the subject seems to be likely to prove greater than that excited by the conduct of Mr. Parnell. Mr. Gladstone himself is said to be alarmed by it, and it is believed not improbable that Sir John Pope Hennessy may be unseated on account of undue influence.

Not Sanguine of Results.

DUBLIN, Dec. 27.—The Dublin Express, a conservative organ, denies the statement of Mr. Healy that the Unionists voted for Mr. Parnell's candidate in the Kilkenny election. The Express states that the Unionists stood aloof, having no choice between Scully and Hennessy.

None of the newspapers—Parnellites or anti-Parnellite—appears sanguine of any adjustment between the factions of the Irish party as a result of the conference in Paris between Parnell and O'Brien. The view is expressed that Gladstone and Morley, as well as the Irish Catholic hierarchy, never would consent to Parnell being acknowledged as leader, and that any agreement ignoring those factors would of necessity be void.

Ten Thousand Men Out in Scotland.

GLASGOW, Dec. 27.—The strike situation a very slightly changed. As yet the movement of the badly delayed and constantly accumulating mass of freight piled up on the side tracks has not been materially advanced.

The men have agreed to confer with the directors of the company, provided the secretary of their union is permitted to be present and give his counsel during the deliberations of the meeting. Inasmuch as the directors have been very positive in their assertions that they would close the road rather than permit any interference with its management by the employes or their representatives, it is doubtful whether they will consent to recognize the secretary of the union. Should they do so the public as well as the strikers will consider the company's position as having very significantly weakened.

At Aberdeen the battle seems to go steadily against the strikers, almost every man having resumed work.

At all the great centers of the strike the employers express confidence that before long the necessities of their families will compel the men to come to terms and resume work. On the other hand, the strikers assert that they are in a condition to continue the struggle for six weeks without causing distress to themselves or their families. They claim to have prudently prepared for the contingency now upon them, and the treasuries of the unions are believed to be amply able to promptly relieve anything like suffering or even scarcity of necessities.

Considering that about 10,000 men are out along the lines of the railway system of Scotland the strike is a phenomenally orderly one. The most serious demonstrations thus far have amounted to nothing more than the occasional stoning of a nonunionist workman and the hearty hooting and slanging of men who choose to stand by the companies.

FURIOUS SNOW STORMS RAGE.

Winter's Mantle Spreads Itself Over Many Sections.

NEW YORK, Dec. 27.—In this city the snow storm began at 3 o'clock Friday morning, accompanied by a high wind, which, at 8 o'clock, was blowing at the rate of thirty-one miles an hour, the temperature at that time being 14 degs. above zero. All trains running into New York were greatly delayed, many of them being from three to four hours late. Travel on all ferries was greatly impeded by the drifting snow and high wind, causing them to run at half speed only, and to keep the fog bells continually ringing.

On the elevated railroads travel was difficult, trains being compelled to move at a very slow pace, owing to the inability of the engineers to see the trains ahead of them. No accident of any serious kind, however, has so far been reported. On the surface roads cars are almost at a standstill, many being taken off their routes entirely, while those that are to be seen on the streets are "doubled up," and move even then with the greatest difficulty.

On the river the blinding snow storm made navigation difficult and hazardous. No steamships sailed, and none so far as reported has arrived.

PITTSBURG, Dec. 27.—A storm of fine dry snow struck this city at 6 o'clock Thursday evening, and has continued without cessation. The horse and electric railways in Pittsburg and Allegheny are almost impassable. Trains from the south and east are several hours late. A heavy snow fall is reported in the Allegheny mountains. Trains from the north and west are about on schedule time. The weather is mild, with falling temperature.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27.—A heavy snow storm prevailed in Washington and vicinity all night. A drizzling rain fell for several hours. Travel on the street car lines has been greatly retarded and trains from all points are late in arriving. It is the heaviest storm experienced in Washington since the blizzard of March, 1888.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Dec. 27.—A heavy blizzard began at an early hour Friday morning, and the snow drifted badly in places. Later in the morning the wind subsided, and now the snow is falling steadily without drifting. Railway travel will be somewhat impeded.

ALBANY, Dec. 27.—Snow commenced falling about 7:30 o'clock Friday morning, accompanied by a northwest wind. It continues to storm hard.

NEWBURG, N. Y., Dec. 27.—A severe blizzard started Friday morning, blowing hard from the northwest, accompanied by a heavy fall of snow. It is still snowing hard.

Extensive Land Purchases.

PARKERSBURG, W. Va., Dec. 27.—Morgan, Drexel & Co., of Philadelphia, who represent the Vanderbilt interests, have purchased 50,000 acres of coal and timber lands in Raleigh county, and have surveyed a line of railroad through from the main line of the Baltimore and Ohio and Chesapeake and Ohio railroads. The Chesapeake and Ohio railroad has also bought large tracts of mineral and timber lands. The Baltimore and Ohio railroad people have purchased 75,000 acres of mineral and timber lands from ex-Senator J. N. Camden, of this city. The syndicate, representing Senator Gorman, of Maryland, Secretary of State James G. Blaine, ex-Senator Henry G. Davis, Stephen Elkins and others, have purchased within the past few weeks a number of tracts of timber and mineral lands, ranging in extent from 10,000 to 20,000 acres in each tract.

Found Pardons in Their Stockings.

HARTFORD, Conn., Dec. 27.—Four convicts in the Connecticut state prison were released by the state board of pardons on Christmas day. George Fowler and Clarke Fisher, serving sentences of seven years for stealing a watch in 1885 at Stamford, and Ernest Kendall, of Rockville, sentenced in 1887 for four years for horse stealing, were given their liberty at noon. The other was George Hudson, a negro sailor, sentenced for life in 1869 for rape in New Haven. He is a British subject, and the British consul general in New York, who applied for his pardon, agreed to send Hudson to his friends in the island of St. Helena. His release is conditional upon his leaving the United States.

NEW YORK, Dec. 27.—The funeral services over the remains of Frederick Pearson, a retired commander of the United States navy, who died on Tuesday of heart disease, were held at his late residence, 3 West Fifty-seventh street, Friday morning. The casket was covered with black velvet and richly mounted with silver and gold. The floral offerings were numerous and beautiful. The parlors, though large, could hardly accommodate the people who came to pay their last respects to the dead naval officer. The services were conducted by the Rev. Dr. Greer, of St. Thomas' church. Among those present were Bradley Lee, Ogden Mills and Gen. B. F. Butler. The interment was at Woodlawn.

Wanted to Follow Her Husband.

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Dec. 27.—Baron Parisse Pebochkopier, an Austrian nobleman who has been living with his wife at National City for some time, died yesterday morning. His wife drank a quantity of chloroform and carbolic acid. She was found unconscious, and, though still alive, cannot recover.

Fell from the Wings.

MILWAUKEE, Dec. 27.—Shortly before the curtain rose at the Davidson theatre Charles McIntyre, who was up in the wings with a friend employed there, lost his balance and fell to the stage, striking on the top of his head. He was taken to the hospital and died two hours later.

The Weather.

The signal office announces that unsettled weather will prevail, with heavy snow storms from the lake region eastward.

ONLY ONE LITTLE CLOUD

That Is All That Now Dims the World's Fair Horizon.

AND IT WILL VANISH SOON.

A Wee Bit of a Complication Over the Expenditure of the Appropriation for Work in Foreign Countries That Good Sense Can Settle.

CHICAGO, Dec. 27.—There is now but one cloud on the horizon of the World's fair. That is such a small one that it will probably drift away next week, leaving no trace of a storm in either directory or commission. The single speck on the horizon grows out of the action of the commission in authorizing the committee on foreign affairs to expend the $20,000 appropriated by congress for work in foreign countries. The day after that action had been taken the commission clothed Director General Davis with power to manage all departments, and deprived the various standing committees of all their authority and patronage. The committee on foreign affairs alone retained its powers.

The question has now arisen, shall Director General Davis name the agents who are to expend this amount, or shall the committee proceed without consulting the director general?

It is agreed on all sides that anything like a conflict of authority in that department would prove embarrassing to the exposition, and with a view to reaching an amicable understanding Col. Davis has decided to meet the committee on foreign affairs in New York next week. The meeting will probably be held Saturday.

The Way Out of It.

Col. Davis said recently that work in the foreign department would be commenced in earnest as soon as the president's proclamation was out, and unless good sense prevails it is not improbable that the exposition will soon be represented abroad by two forces, one working under the authority of the national commission, through the committee on foreign affairs, and the other under the supervision of Director General Davis.

This arrangement, if made permanent, might lead to complications, and it is expected that the national representatives will recommend that all work be prosecuted under instructions from Col. Davis after the first year. If this were done, and future appropriations from congress for the purpose were credited to Col. Davis, the collection of foreign exhibits would go on without delay, and the entire foreign bureau would act in harmony. It is to accomplish this end that Col. Davis has decided to attend the meeting of the committee on foreign affairs next week, and there is little doubt that he will succeed in his mission.

The Dedication Ceremonies.

Secretary Dickinson is awaiting with some anxiety the result of the meeting of the committee on ceremonies. The committee will meet early in January, and decide upon a programme for the dedication of the exposition buildings in October, 1892. Mr. Dickinson has suggested the mobilization of the National Guard, U. S. A., and all the leading military bands as a feature of the ceremonies. A great many commissioners have expressed their approval of the suggestion, and a large number of indorsements have been received from state officials who are anxious for their troops to take part in the exercises.

The Chicago Irish Fund.

CHICAGO, Dec. 27.—J. V. Clark, treasurer of the Chicago Irish Eviction fund, has, on the advice of the Irish delegates, Messrs. O'Brien, Dillon, Gill, T. D. Sullivan, T. P. O'Connor and Harrington, forwarded $1,200 to the Dublin treasurers, Alfred Webb and Dr. Jose Kenny. Mr. Webb, who is a Quaker, is a strong McCarthyite. Kenny is a Parnellite of the mild variety.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL.

Closing Quotations of the New York Stock Exchange.

NEW YORK, Dec. 26.—Money on call loaned at easy rates at $4.80@4.84½; actual rates, $4.78¾@4.79 for sixty days, and $4.83¾@4.83½ for demand. Governments steady; currency 6s, 109 bid; 4s, coupon, 123¾ bid; 4½s, do., 103¾ bid.

The holiday dullness in the stock market continues. Up to noon today only 48,100 shares were sold. The attendance of brokers on the floor was the smallest since the blizzard. Prices were weak and declined from sheer inactivity. The little trading done was confined to Lead trust, Union Pacific, Atchison, St. Paul and Sugar trust. Money loaned throughout the morning at 4@5 per cent. At noon prices were ⅛ to 1 per cent. below those of Saturday. At the close the only feature was complete stagnation.

A FRIGHTFUL EXPLOSION.

Two Men Mangled Beyond Recognition by Its Awful Force.

LAKE HOPATCONG, N. J., Dec. 27.—The residents of this place were startled Friday morning at 7:30 o'clock by a deafening explosion that shook the earth, rattled the window panes, and upset everything movable within their homes. Experience told these people that it must be a powder explosion, for the works of the American Forcite Powder company are located here.

Therefore in a few moments 100 excited persons were plowing their way through the blinding snow storm to the powder works. These works are composed of a number of small frame buildings, covering a space of eighty acres.

It was ascertained that the small shanty known as the cartridge house had blown up, and that two men had been killed. This shanty was about 5 by 7 feet, and was 12 feet high. It contained the machine for making cartridges.

At 7 o'clock this morning John R. Johnson and Mahlon Sperry began their work of making cartridges. These are made on a machine that works something like a sausage machine. The loose powder is poured into the empty cartridge shells and then rammed down tight.

There was not over ten pounds of the explosive in the shanty, but this was enough to blow the whole structure to atoms. The two men were recalling the good time they had had on Christmas day.

They exchanged pleasant greetings with a fellow workman, who stopped for a moment to chat with them, and then he started to another part of the works. He had not gone over 100 feet from the shanty when he was thrown violently to the ground by a terrific explosion.

Then there was a dull roar and a rushing sound in the air. The man knew what it meant. The building had blown up. As soon as he rose he saw that the air was filled with flying debris, and the snow was covered with smoke blackened fragments.

A great ragged hole marked the spot where the shanty had stood. Among the pieces of timber that lay upon the snow were the maimed and bleeding bodies of Johnson and Sperry. The men were quite dead, and the bodies were mangled beyond recognition. The people who had started for the scene of disaster had arrived by this time, and the two bodies were removed to an adjoining shanty.

How the explosion occurred is not known. The general belief is that the machine used in filling the cartridges had exploded the powder, which is highly explosive.

Blown Out of Sight.

NEWPORT, ARK., Dec. 27.—By the explosion of a boiler in Kelly & Wells' lumber mills on Black river, forty miles from here, two persons were killed and a number wounded. Engineer Wiley Sloan and John Angus, the superintendent, were standing in front of the boiler when the explosion took place. Angus was blown against a lumber heap; his limbs were broken and a part of his skull was torn away. No traces of the body of Sloan, the engineer, could be found.

A large section of the boiler was propelled through the iron roof, then through the texas deck of the steamer Golden Gate, anchored near by, and then across the river 100 yards wide. Maud West was frightfully scalded, and William Durgens had both legs broken in several places and was badly scalded. Four other persons were injured.

Canadian Masons Excited.

TORONTO, Ont., Dec. 27.—There is much excitement in Canada over the affairs of the Northwestern Masonic Aid association, whose headquarters are at Chicago. The organization has in force in Canada over $2,000,000 of insurance among the Masons. It has been doing purely a Masonic business in Canada, but it is coming to the knowledge of the Dominion government that the association was accepting non-Masons as risks in the United States. It was notified to quit business in Canada or put up the statutory deposit at Ottawa. The latter it would not do, so it has been temporarily ordered to withdraw from Canada. It is said that after the withdrawal from Canada the association can snap its fingers at the Canadian patrons, who have paid in many thousands of dollars in assessments.

Couldn't Save Him.

HADDONFIELD, N. J., Dec. 27.—Willie W. Hewitt, a 15-year-old pupil at St. John's Episcopal academy, in this town, was drowned yesterday while on Evans lake, and his father, who went to his rescue, barely escaped with his life after struggling for thirty minutes in the freezing water, a part of which time he held his son above the surface. Five other persons broke through into the lake, and their rescue was effected with great difficulty. The father, E. J. D. Hewitt, who is an inspector of the Nassau Gas Light company, Brooklyn, N. Y., had come on from his home to spend Christmas with his two sons, both of whom were pupils at the academy.

All Doing Well.

NEW YORK, Dec. 27.—The one hundred and odd lymph inoculated patients at the various hospitals are all doing well, and are showing in a greater or lesser degree the expected reactionary symptoms. There are seventeen lymph cases in Bellevue hospital, of whom several will be re-inoculated today. They will also be weighed. Should their weight show an increase Dr. Loomis will regard the lymph injections as having been productive of good results. Dr. Loomis would regard an increase in weight as the best premonition of the ultimate success of the experiments.

Maine's Abandoned Farms.

BOSTON, Dec. 27.—A Journal special from Augusta, Me., says Labor Commissioner Matthews has completed the compilation of abandoned farm statistics in the state, and the results are exceedingly interesting. The number of abandoned farms reported aggregates 3,310. The total acreage of these farms is 254,518, and their valuation for taxation is $1,248,769. The assessors do not, as a rule, give any reasons why these farms were abandoned.

An Old New Yorker Dead.

NEW YORK, Dec. 24.—The death of John B. Trevor, an old and well known broker, was announced on the Stock Exchange Tuesday. He became a member of the Stock Exchange in 1850, and was for many years the head of the firm of Trevor & Colgate. He was about 63 years of age.

Roasted Herself to Death.

ST. PETERSBURG, Dec. 26.—A Jewish woman, whose house was about to be sold by the authorities to meet the fine imposed by reason of her son's avoidance of conscription, in her despair lay down in the kitchen fire and allowed herself to be burned to death.

THE CANDIDATE FOR '92.

Secretary Rusk Expects the President to Be Renominated.

HE SAYS HE DESERVES IT.

Several Agricultural Papers Had Named Mr. Rusk for the Presidency, but He Would Not Oppose the Chief Magistrate—Washington Items.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26.—Secretary Rusk's attention was called to an article in press dispatches which reproduced what purported to be a farmers' vote on presidential candidates for 1892, gotten up by a combination of two or three agricultural papers in Springfield, Mass., and Chicago, and in which his own name was prominently mentioned.

"I am very much astonished," said the secretary. "I regret to see my name used in this connection. I am very grateful for any appreciation of my efforts to serve the country as secretary of agriculture, but I sincerely regret the attempt to turn the attention of Republicans away from President Harrison as a presidential candidate for 1892. His administration has been a clean one, and directed to the best interests of the whole people. Politically he has been thoroughly loyal to the principles of his party as expressed by its representatives in the platform adopted at the convention which nominated him. I gratefully acknowledge my indebtedness to him for wise counsel and cordial co-operation in the administration of my own department, and am heartily glad if my efforts have contributed in any way to the admirable record he has made. If there has been any failure in carrying out the popular will as expressed in the election which called Mr. Harrison to the presidency, it is certainly not chargeable to him or to his administration. I confidently look for his renomination and re-election.

Christmas at the White House.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26.—The Christmas party at the White House consisted of the President and Mrs. Harrison, Mrs. McKee and the babies, Grandfather Scott and Mr. Halford. Among Baby McKee's numerous gifts is a tricycle, something for which he has longed. Another of his gifts is a steam engine that will draw a train of cars after it. Mrs. Harrison has purchased for him a fine set of building blocks. Little Mary received a fine collection of dolls, some of which were purchased by Mrs. Halford at the doll show in New York last week. One is dressed like a milkmaid and another is a marvelous rag doll, with "truly hair" and shoes that button up. Another is a talking doll, and was bought in Washington. It is trained to say the "Mary Had a Little Lamb" story, and it is believed that this one will be the dearest of all her presents. Mary also has a toy kitchen and a true cow that nods its head.

Natural Gas Is Dutiable.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26.—The treasury department Wednesday decided a novel question, holding that natural gas imported into this country is dutiable at the rate of 10 per cent. ad valorem, under the section of the new tariff law covering unenumerated manufactured articles. The question was presented by the collector of customs of Buffalo, N. Y., who stated that the Buffalo Gas and Fuel company was engaged in laying a main across the Niagara river for the purpose of transmitting the natural gas product in Canada into Buffalo for supplying heat for houses, etc. The gas, he stated, would be measured by a meter located on the American side of the river. The department holds that natural gas is wholly different from electricity, being a merchantable commodity. This decision will set a precedent on a question never before presented to the treasury department for decision.

The First Monument to Cortez.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26.—The bureau of the American republics has information that the first monument to Hernado Cortez, the conqueror of Mexico, was unveiled in his native city of Medellin, in Extremadura, Spain, on Dec. 2, 1890. The statue was erected by the municipality of Medellin, aided by the contribution of $1,000 from the senate and $1,200 by the chamber of deputies of Spain. The statue is the work of a young Spanish sculptor, Eugenio Barron.

The New Brazilian Minister.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26.—Mr. Valente, the Brazilian minister in this city, has received an official notice from his government informing him of his transfer from his present position to that of minister to Vienna. Dr. Salvador de Mendonca, who is the present Brazilian minister in that city, will succeed Mr. Valente as the new minister to the United States.

There May Be a Conference.

GLASGOW, Dec. 26.—The board of directors of the Northeastern railroad has held a meeting, and it is understood that the board is endeavoring to arrange for a conference with a committee representing the strikers, in the hope that an understanding may be arrived at between them by which the strike on the Northeastern road can be terminated. The remarkable thing about this strike is that it is wholly on a question of hours, no demand for increased wages being made. The men want the number of hours worked in any one day to be limited to ten, and it is this moderation in their demands which attracts public sympathy so strongly to their cause.

A New Rapid Transit Commission.

NEW YORK, Dec. 26.—A new rapid transit commission was appointed yesterday by Mayor Grant. The commission is commission of William Steinway, John H. Starin, Samuel Spencer, E. L. Bushe and Frederick P. Olcott. Messrs. Spencer and Starin are Republicans and the other three are Democrats.

Held for Infanticide.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Dec. 26.—Jennie McLeod, the young Canadian girl who, it is alleged, killed her newly born babe on Dec. 10 by strangling, was held for the grand jury for murder in the first degree and recommitted to jail.

Eyraud Wants to Interview Bompard.

PARIS, Dec. 26.—Since his conviction Eyraud spends his time in raving against fate and cursing Gabrielle Bompard. He has requested the privilege of another interview with her and has been refused.

The End Is Near at Hand.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Dec. 26.—There is little if any change in the condition of Gen. Spinner, but his relatives fear that death is near at hand.

A WIDOWER'S LOVE.

Because She Jilted Him He Tried to Drown Her and Himself.

WATERTOWN, N. Y., Dec. 26.—Z. B. Merriam, a widower, aged 40, who has five children, attempted to drown himself and Miss Josephine De Marse, aged 32 years, in Black river, in this city. He started to walk home with the young woman, and she informed him that she would no longer receive his attentions. He accused her sister of having prejudiced her against him. She tried to leave him, but he persisted in following her, and she finally consented to walk with him.

As they crossed a bridge over one branch of the river he seized her in his arms, and despite her struggles and cries of "Murder!" jumped into the water with her, saying, "We will die together and no one else shall have you." Employes of a manufactory heard her screams and pulled the couple out of the water, though they narrowly escaped going over the falls. The girl was unconscious and is suffering from nervous shock. Merriam was taken to jail and will be charged with attempted murder and suicide.

Threatened Strike of Belgian Miners.

BRUSSELS, Dec. 26.—The coal mining companies throughout the coal districts, after a full discussion of the matter from its various standpoints, have decided that on and after Dec. 30 there must be a general reduction of the wages of their employes. This step has been contemplated for some time, and preparations have been made both by the companies and the workmen in regard to the possible outcome of the policy now determined upon. The coal companies having made the first move in this new struggle, it is considered certain that the miners' federation will almost immediately renew the agitation of the past. As a commencement the federation has replied to the action of the companies by issuing a proclamation to the effect that a general strike will be ordered unless parliament revises the constitution so as to give the miners protection against arbitrary action on the part of the companies.

The Law Is Unconstitutional.

LANSING, Mich., Dec. 26.—The last legislature passed a law providing for cumulative voting for representatives to the state legislature in districts where more than one member was to be elected. The law allowed the voter to cast one vote for each of the candidates for representative on his ticket, or, if he choose, as many votes for one candidate as there were candidates on the ticket for that office. The county boards of canvassers having refused to issue certificates of election to representatives elected in this manner, the matter was carried to the supreme court. The court decided yesterday that the law was clearly unconstitutional. This decision makes the lower branch of the legislature stand sixty-eight Democrats to thirty-four Republicans.

Railroads Must Obey the Law.

LANSING, Mich., Dec. 26.—The last Michigan legislature passed a bill known as the Chapman graded fare bill. It reduced railroad fares, fixing the basis of rates on the amount of passenger earnings per mile. The Chicago and Grand Trunk, which was one of the roads whose passenger tariff was cut down by this law, refused to accept its provisions and a test case was carried to the supreme court, the company holding that the law was unconstitutional. In a decision handed down last night, the court unanimously holds that the law is constitutional and valid. None of the railroads obeyed the law pending the decision of the court.

Discontent in Peru.

PANAMA, Dec. 26.—Rumors have been in circulation for some time past of revolutionary movements in Peru, and it is known that on the 2d inst. a meeting was held in Fort Santa Catalina, outside of Lima, and that an effort was made in behalf of ex-Dictator Pierola. The movement was suppressed, but at a cost of forty lives. As matters now stand in that country it is not unlikely that similar uprisings will occur at short intervals, as the conditions are entirely favorable. The great destitution prevailing throughout Peru is largely responsible for the unsettled condition of affairs. Pierola was in Ecuador very recently.

A Very Pious Thief.

ELIZABETH, Dec. 26.—Samuel Williams was arraigned here Wednesday for stealing a $65 gold watch and $5 in cash from Mrs. Gunnier, of Lyons Farms, with whom he boarded. Williams, who is 27 years old, pretended to be a very devout church member, was conspicuous at every service in the Presbyterian church at Lyons Farms, and used frequently to read the Bible aloud at his home. The prisoner was arrested at a church service. Williams confessed the theft, and now the church members believe that he is insane and want his punishment suspended on that account.

Died at the Age of 115.

SANTA FE, N. M., Dec. 26.—News of the death of Antonio Lopez, aged 115 years, was received here today. His death was unaccompanied with suffering of any kind. He had his children and grandchildren gathered around him, and talked to them of the service he had done as a soldier under the Spanish kings, and he remembered when a certain king, Louis XVI, and his wife, Marie Antoinette, were beheaded. Lopez was mentioned in connection with the recent census report on account of his extreme old age.

A Murderer Lynched in His Cell.

AULANDER, N. C., Dec. 26.—Kich Freeman, the negro who murdered Mr. Adkins and his mother last November, and who was arrested in Norfolk last week and lodged in Winston jail, was lynched early yesterday morning. Three unknown men called up the jailer, stating they had a prisoner to put in the jail. The jailer opened the door, when immdiately about thirty masked men rushed at him, overpowered him, took the jail keys, entered the jail and hanged Freeman in his cell.

Bloodshed at a Christmas Festival.

OXMOOR, Ala., Dec. 26.—A riot broke up a Christmas festival at a negro church near this place. Half a dozen negroes, who were drinking, got into a fight, and fifty shots were fired. Lights were blown out, and there was a panic at the festival. Ben Butler was killed outright and Tom Alexander and Hobson McIntosh were fatally wounded. Several others were slightly wounded. No one could tell who fired the shots, and no arrests have been

A Little Bit of a Plot.

BUENOS AYRES, Dec. 24.—Several persons have been arrested for being concerned in a plot to overthrow the government. As the conspiracy did not include any well known leaders there is no public ferment regarding it.

—Centre county jail won't hold murderers unless thay're crazy.

—The winter sunsets have been truly grand and the sunrises equally so.

—Friday was as quiet as if there was a funeral all day and Bellefonte was being buried.

—Business is beginning to revive a little now that the Christmas stagnation is over.

—How many of the fortune-favored of Bellefonte remembered the poor on Thursday?

—The Ebensburg bank has resumed operations, opening its doors last Saturday morning.

—It is very likely that the next sensation will not be a murder trial at the January court.

—By this time the Christmas turkey is about all devoured and the bones cleanly picked.

—Col. J. L. Spangler went to the "City of Brotherly Love" to purchase his holiday gifts.

—Mr. W. H. Crissman, of the Buffalo Run railroad office, got a good caning on Wednesday evening.

—Murderer Wilson went out on "leg bail" and his own "leave of absence" has not yet expired.

Mr. Frank Lingle, of Philipsburg, is spending his holidays at his parents' home in this place.

—Now that one prisoner has escaped will the county authorities proceed to make the jail more secure.

—There are places in the country where the roads are not now discernible. All drifted shut with big banks of snow.

—The man who bought his coal in September is worse off than the man who buys it now. He paid more then than it costs now.

—The Riddlesburg furnace has closed, throwing four hundred men out of work. Another result of the recent Democratic victory.

—A Bellefonte young man was arrested in Lock Haven on Saturday for murderer Wilson, but escaped by showing his false teeth.

—Mr. James McEntire and family, Mr. Harry McEntire and Miss Ruby Hunt, all of Williamsport, visited friends in Fillmore recently.

Mrs. John Farrell, of Tyrone, died on Friday morning. Mrs Farrell was one of the Misses Annie and Loughlin, of this place, and sister of Tyrone.

—Williamsport still supports a curb market. At present Bellefonters don't even know whether the town has a curb stone; the snow is too deep, you know —The combination against McCalmont & Co., in selling coal have brought prices down very low. McCalmont & Co., however, are selling a little the cheapest.

—On Wednesday morning at Camden, N. J., by Rev. Finlaw, of the M. E. church, Mr. Frank C. McCormick, of Altoona, was married to Miss Mila Love, of this county.

—There is something soft and tender in the falling of a single snow flake, but when it comes to crawling out in the morning to shovel away a six foot drift, it's mean and disgusting.

—Book keepers, letter writers, clerks, editors, and the entire business world had better begin to practice the writing of 1891. The old year is almost gone and the new one soon will come.

—Who among our many readers will send in the correct pronunciation to the following: "Chargoggagogmanchanggagogagungamaugg." The above is the name of a lake near Webster, Mass.

—If you want a paper that will visit you every week in the year you should subscribe for the Bellefonte Republican, all the other weekly papers miss two weeks in the year—the Republican none.

—One of the Christmas presents made by General Hastings was a check for $500 to a poor woman whose husband was killed in the coal mines. Evidently the General has a heart as big as his body.

—So long as women will write letters to criminals and profess love and propose marriage, it is a certain fact that all the feminine fools are not yet dead, and that an extra watch should be kept over the prisoner.

—Mrs. S J Musser, of Altoona, is lying ill with pneumonia at the home of her father, Mr. Joel Johnson, on Bishop street. One of the lady's children is also very ill at the same place and another is quite ill at their home in Altoona.

—Noah advertised the flood. He lived through it, and the fellows who laughed at him were drowned. Ever since then the advertiser has been getting along, and those who don't advertise have been getting left—drowned in the flood, as it were.

—The remains of the young son of Governor and Mrs. Beaver, who died and was buried in Harrisburg almost four years ago, were raised from the cemetery there and brought to Bellefonte this morning to be buried in the Beaver lot in the Union cemetery.

—This seems to be a regular old fashioned winter. A genuine old timer that our "daddies" used to tell about. It seems to be a genuine surprise, and it certainly has knocked the goose bone and modern weather teller's prophecies all to smithereens. All the same it seems to be welcome.

—McCalmont & Co's purpose to distribute ten tons of coal among the poor of Bellefonte during the next week is a very commendable action. In half ton lots this will make twenty families a very joyful holiday week. If every coal dealer in Bellefonte were to do the same 80 families could be made happy.

—A citizen suggests that the electric light company will confer a favor on the noted crooks, who contemplate committing crimes in Centre county, by placing an arc light on the pole which was so kindly placed at the corner of the jail yard to facilitate the escape of evil doers, after they have been incarcerated in a prison built to hold harmless people only.

The Cleary Case.

The Cleary case has been continued for reasons that we were unable to get, and this is virtually an abandonment of all jury business of the first week of court, as the jurors, both grand and traverse, have all been discharged. There were eighty traverse jurors summoned, and twenty four grand jurors, and of course their discharge means no jury business of any sort.—(L. H. Dem.

Ex-Secretary Stone made the presentation speech. The dinner was given only to the members of Governor Beaver's cabinet and their wives.

CHRISTMAS GREETINGS.

What was Done, How the Day was Spent and Where People Were.

Christmas in Bellefonte was a very quiet day, almost like a Sunday. Indeed, had it not been for the running of trains, etc., it could very easily have been taken for the Sabbath Day. Some of the stores were open in the morning but there was very little buying done. All business was temporarily suspended. Christmas service was held in many of the churches. In the Presbyterian church a service of song was held at 10.30 in the morning. In the Lutheran church there was a Christmas service and tree in the evening. The Methodists had a tree the evening previous.

All the newspaper offices took a rest but the expressman and railroad employes in general, as well as the post office clerks and letter carriers had a busy day of it. In the court house the county officials congregated in groups and discussed the escape and probable recapture of Wilson, the escaped murderer. Merchants met and discussed the Christmas trade while one and all gathered round the table and discussed weighty and frivolous questions, devoured turkey, passed jokes and topped out on the regulation Christmas pudding. That is about all that was done on Christmas day in Bellefonte

CHRISTMAS PERSONALS.

Mr. Eustace Grimes, of the B. & B. R. R. Co.'s office, spent Christmas at his home in Pittsburg.

Prothonotary Schaeffer entertained a family gathering of his own and wife's relatives on Christmas.

Mr. James Lane, of Philadelphia, ate his Christmas dinner in Bellefonte.

Mr. Edward Richards, also of the Quaker City, is spending his holidays at home.

Adjutant General Hastings came home on Thursday morning to eat his Christmas dinner and with him came his distinguished brother, William.

Mrs. and Hrs. W. F. Reeder entertained some of Mrs. Reeder's friends on Thursday,

Mr. Samuel Reynolds and sister are spending the holidays at the home of their uncle, Major Wm. F. Reynolds.

At the Reformed Church.

On Christmas evening in the Reformed Church the Sunday School gave quite a nice entertainment which they had styled "Emanuel." There was also a Christmas tree. The service was principally one of song and instrumental music as rendered by the Sunday school orchestra. The church was crowded to witness the exercises and some were turned away. One of the pleasant occasions of the evening was the presentation by the Church and Sunday school to Prof. W. T. Meyer of $50 in gold, in recognition of his valuable services in the Sunday school and church choir. Since Mr. Meyer has taken hold of the latter and given his attention to the former the Sunday school has almost doubled its size and the interest manifested there is unprecedented.

Lots of Snow in Huston.

Commissioner J. C. Henderson came from his home in Huston township to Bellefonte on Monday morning. According to his story the snow in that part of "Old Centre" must be pretty deep. Mr. Henderson lives about two miles from the railroad station at Julian Furnace. While one of his sons was taking him to the station in a sleigh on Monday morning Mr. Henderson says they had a practical illustration of how deep the drifts were. They were driving along, with their heads down, when all at once it became dark as night They looked up to learn the cause, when they were greatly surprised to find that they were being pulled through a snow drift that covered them completely. In this way they traveled for fully a quarter of a mile before they again emerged into daylight. Looking around they were still more surprised to find that they had just gone through a little mountain of snow. If any one else in Centre county can tell a like experience we would like to have them do so.

One Family's Sad Christmas.

Early on Christmas morning a disastrous fire occurred at Wallaceton, Clearfield county, by which the house of George W. Emigh was totally destroyed, together with the stable, horses, furniture and all the effects of himself, wife and seven children. Some of the children barely escaped in their night clothes, and one, Miss Eva, a school teacher, leaped from an up stairs window, sustaining serious injuries. The family are now utterly destitute and in need of assistance, which charitable persons, who are disposed to contribute, may send direct to G. W. Emigh at Wallaceton, or to J. E. Harder, Clearfield, which will be suitably acknowledged in the columns of the G. and B. at Williamsport. But let the relief be speedy. Mr. Emigh is working on a saw mill in this county and had just gone home to spend Christmas with his family.

THE COUNTY INSTITUTE.

As Seen Through the Glasses of Another Old Teacher.

MR. EDITOR:—In last week's issue of your paper appeared an article on the County Institute signed by an "Old Teacher." It is very evident to most all who read the article in question, and especially is it patent to the younger teachers, that the writer of that article must be, indeed, a very old teacher, one who has not been in the school room in the capacity of teacher for a good many years, and whose ideas are very old fogyish withal; but who, nevertheless, feels considerable interest in public schools and must be trying to preach progressive education.

In the first place the writer goes on to speak of a matter that does not concern us teachers—the financial success of the institute. Goodness knows if it was not a financial success there must have been something wrong with the management, for the teachers were charged a greater tuition fee than ever before. Last year out of the $200 allowed by the county very little was used and there were more instructors at that institute than at this. As to the professors talking on the "art and science of education," that is all bosh. It may suit some few fanatics on the subject of education who, in their zeal for the promotion of the cause, would sit down hour after hour and read Webster's Unabridged Dictionary backwards, crosswise and any other way, and then get up and declare it very interesting. As a matter of reference and research nobody will deny its value but to read it to an audience of 300 would not be very entertaining. So it is with most of the learned professors' talks at the county institute. For scientific articles on educational matters they would be very good for reference, but they do not contain enough that is practical to make them interesting to a court house full of school teachers.

Dr. White said if he had the holding of a county institute he would have three sessions a day of solid instruction and give no evening entertainment. If Dr. White was to undertake to run an institute in that way he would receive less attention than he ever received before. I do not attempt to presume to deny that the instruction given at the recent institute was not sound, logical and, I might add, beneficial, if properly condensed and applied; but I do uphold, and I think the majority will bear me out in the assertion, that the talks savored too much of the scientific and not enough of the practical to make them interesting.

As to "pet theories," I would like to ask an "Old Teacher" if he ever knew a man who made it his business to give instruction at county institutes who was not 'loaded' with them and who did not take that as the fitting and long-looked for opportunity to "shoot them off" on a house full of school teachers because they were compelled to stay and listen? It is ever so. How many of these self same instructors could draw a half an audience if people had to pay a quarter or even a dime to hear them? Why they would have nothing but the empty benches to talk to.

And again; as to the resolution adopted by the Directors' Association and read to the institute by Mr. Fortney, who took that occasion to speak in severe terms of the teachers composing the institute. I think the whole thing uncalled for and out of place. I do not want to be understood as meaning that there was no call for the resolution or talk in some cases, for it is only too true that there was. And it was worse at the recent institute than ever before. Some teachers would answer to roll call and then go right out while others did what was far worse, congregate in the rear of the court house and keep up a continual noise that was almost unbearable. To these the rebuke was well fitted and mildly expressive, but to the institute as a whole it was wrong. If the directors had taken the trouble to look into the matter they would have seen that the majority of these offending teachers were those who were teaching their first year or else very young in the profession. In such cases it is the fault of the several boards of directors. They should not give the care and teaching of a school into the keeping of those who cannot themselves behave properly. But for me, give me the old fashioned institute. ANOTHER OLD TEACHER.

Gregg Twp., Dec. 27, '90.

—The Pittsburg Times never gets left. Neither does its newsboys. On Christmas Eve 165 little ragged urchins, who sell that paper, were each presented with a spic-span new suit of their own selection. Verily the Times well deserves the success it is meeting with.

Not the Least Clue Found.

The authorities are completely baffled as to the whereabouts of John Wilson, or even as to the way he went. As stated in the DAILY NEWS a few days ago, from where he slid down the telephone pole to the ground no further trace has been found. All the stories circulated that he was seen at this place and that place by such and such persons are without foundation whatever. The escape is one of the most mysterious and complete of any ever recorded.

Naturally one would think in order to gain assistance a man would make a confidant of a fellow prisoner. In this case it was not so. The means and instruments used to effect his escape were furnished Wilson by Keefe, a fellow prisoner, but not even to him did he tell anything only that he wanted to use them to escape. He pretended to make love to a woman who visited him in jail solely for the purpose of using her as a means to effect his escape but, so far as known, to no one did he confide a word of his intentions once outside the jail wall. At that point all became a mystery and is a mystery still. It is very seldom that a prisoner can escape but that some person sees him even if he don't know him to be an escaped criminal. Wilson seems to have gotten away without being seen by anyone at all even though it was a bright moonlight night.

Now that the man has escaped those who were most earnest in declaring the man not as bad as represented are loudest in their denunciations of the authorities for the prisoners' escape and failure to re-capture. "Send for a Pinkerton detective," is their cry! What good would a million Pinkerton detectives do without a place to start to trail their man? All the substantial help anyway now is simply the man's description But something ought and should be done. If a trail can't be struck in Bellefonte it can somewhere else if it is thoroughly hunted for. "Murder will out" is as truly descriptive of "no man can hide himself from the world" as two peas in a pod are alike. Industry and perseverence will result in wonders being performed. And with proper diligence John Wilson will yet be recaptured and the next time he goes from the Bellefonte jail should be through, instead of over, the Centre county gallows.

A Snow Shoe Marriage.

The little town of Masbannon was the scene of a lively time on Christmas day midst a large assemblage of friends and neighbors. When announcement was made that all was ready Mr. Thomas A. Fye and Miss Edna E. Zandes, with their attendants, marched into the parlor. The little party was met in the centre of the room by J. S. Smith, Esq., who, with the calmness for which he is so noted on such occasions, proceeded to pronounce the ceremony which made Mr. Fye and Miss Zandes man and wife. Congratulations and an examination of the many presents followed.

Just at this opportune moment Mrs. Zandes, mother of the bride, announced dinner, and all present proceeded to the dining room, whence they were led by Postmaster James I. Yarnell, who was also assigned a seat at the head of the table. After all were comfortably seated the trouble commenced. In the centre of the large and well spread table, on a huge platter, lay a large turkey which weighed just twenty one pounds dressed. Who would carve it? After a little discussion the task fell upon Mr. Yarnell, who proceeded to dissect it in an admirable way. When all had eaten until they could eat no more the party returned to the parlor, where a pleasant time was spent together. May Mr. and Mrs. Fye live long and enjoy the union then made is the wish of all friends.

WILSON TRACKED.

A Rumor that the Escaped Murderer has been Discovered.

On Sunday Sheriff Cooke received a dispatch that a suspicious character was in hiding in the White Deer Valley, near Milton, and asking for a full description of Wilson, the escaped murderer. A description was sent and the parties thought they had the right man, but this morning word was received from there that the man had again made his escape and his whereabouts were not definitely known. This looks suspicious, and the man should be hunted down and his identity discovered.

Sheriff Cooke is now out in Clearfield county in the vicinity of Oldtown. Thus far none of the authorities have gone from here to Milton, but it is likely if that man there discovered is taken that some one will go to identify him.
